WILL FIGHT TO DECISIVE END

No Shadow Of Compromise Will Be Tolerated, Hero Of Bataan Declares

By RALPH JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARLIAMENT HOUSE, Canberra, March 26.—With a firm promise of "ultimate victory," General Douglas MacArthur told the Australian parliament and the world today that the United Nations will fight through to triumph without a shadow of compromise "or die."

Addressing members of parliament at a state dinner after a lengthy discussion of all phases of the forthcoming offensive with Prime Minister John Curtin and members of the Australian war council, MacArthur described himself as a "crusader" for liberty, speaking with the "unbreakable faith of a free man."

Deeply Stirred

"The warmth of the greeting given to me by you and by all of Australia has moved me deeply," the supreme commander said.

"Your reception has exceeded all my expectations, although Australian hospitality is known throughout the world.

"You have made me feel right at home.

"There are bonds between our two countries—the United States and

Japanese Use New "Mystery" Bombers In Corregidor Attack

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 26—Frustrated for nearly 16 weeks in the Manila area, the Japanese today are using new type "mystery" bombers in renewed attempts to silence defiant anti-aircraft and artillery batteries on powerful Corregidor Island, principal defending fortress in the Philippines.

Appearance of the "new type" heavy Jap bomber was reported to the war department by Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, after three of the "mystery" aircraft had been shot down by crack American gunners during the latest raid on Corregidor.

Much Larger

Awaiting a complete report from the Philippine commander on the power of the new enemy bomber, military experts in Washington speculated that the new planes were much larger than those previously used by the Japs, thus enabling them to at least carry heavier and more deadly explosives.

Ever since the Japanese drive against the defenders bogged down weeks ago, military analysts have contended that the long-promised Japanese "all-out" offensive hinged on the enemy's ability to knock out Corregidor and three companion forts and their artillery and anti-aircraft batteries.

The fact that Corregidor and Bataan checked the Jap blitzkreig so long after once-mighty Singapore fell was explained, in part, by the award of a congressional medal of honor to General Douglas MacAr-

British Planes Fly Over Paris

(International News Service)

VICHY, March 26.—Paris underwent an air raid alert lasting one and a half hours last night when British planes flew over the former French capital to drop leaflets, it was announced today.

The leaflets warned French workers that just as the Renault factory had been smashed by bombing attacks others will be destroyed if it is found that they are producing war materials for Germany.

Paris air raid sirens sounded at 10 p. m. and the all-clear came at 11:30 p. m.

No bombs were dropped on Paris, but a naval yard at Trait, near Rouen, was attacked by R.A.F. planes.

MOSCOW, March 26.—German bombers and fighters "by the scores" raided Soviet concentrations on the Karelian Arctic front today, according to the official news agency Tass.

Russian anti-aircraft batters went into action, shooting down ten planes and damaging two others. A third wave of enemy planes was dispersed before reaching the scene of combat.

Russian troops continuing their pounding of Nazi forces to break up Hitler's plans for a spring offensive, have struck hard blows against the enemy in the vicinity of Taganrog in the south and on the Kalinin front, where 11,000 Nazi soldiers were killed, Red army advices said.

11,000 Germans "Destroyed"

The Soviet high command said the 11,000 Germans had been "destroyed" in heavy fighting during a 10-day period ending March 21 in the Kalinin sector northwest of Moscow.

FIFTY-FOUR JAP BOMBERS IN RAIDS

Four Of Large Planes Are Shot Down By U. S. Anti-Aircraft Guns

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 26.—For the third consecutive day Japanese bombers today unleashed their fury on Corregidor — fifty-four heavy bombers participating in the assault—but the blazing guns of General Jonathan M. Wainwright's forces turned back the attack with heavy anti-aircraft fire that cost the enemy four planes.

Announcement was made by the war department in a communique which stated that the latest raid lasted for six hours.

The planes shot down boosted to at least seven the number of Jap aircraft destroyed since heavy raids were renewed by the enemy three days ago in an obvious attempt to silence the powerful defending batteries.

Concentrate On Corregidor

While all four of the island forts guarding the entrance to Manila bay were subjected to the bombardment, the war department said that most of the missiles were concentrated on Corregidor, key to the American defense of Bataan.

The communique made no mention of the type of planes used, but it was believed that the latest attack was executed mostly by the "new type" aircraft which appeared for the first time last Tuesday.

There was no indication that the heavy raids are meeting with any

Chinese Forces Are Defending Line Below Mandalay Tenaciously

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, March 26.—A large mixed force of Japanese and Thai troops was reported today to be moving north along the Kyangin road, just above Toungoo, in an apparent effort to swing westward toward Prome and the Burma oil fields.

A communique from British headquarters in New Delhi, India, said a similar enemy force was reported heading toward the oil fields in the vicinity of Minhla, 30 miles north of Tharawaddy.

The sector toward which the Japanese are aiming is in the region of the Pegu Yoma mountains, but it was said no contact had been made there with the enemy.

Dropping Parachutists

The Japanese reportedly were dropping parachutists in isolated areas in western Burma, presumably with the object of organizing local traitors to assist them in infiltration tactics.

American volunteer group pilots again attacked the Japanese-held Chiengmai airfield in Thailand, completely disabling 10 enemy aircraft and damaging many others. The attack was made Tuesday.

There was furious battling between Chinese and imperial defenders and Japanese troops south of Toungoo along the Rangoon-Mandalay road.

Japanese forces side-stepped Toungoo, about 200 miles below Mandalay, and occupied the town of Tyungon, 12 miles to the north.

"Chinese forces in Toungoo are well dug in and will hold on until they are relieved," the communique said.

It was officially stated that losses of the defenders were "remarkably small".

Battle Develops

On the northern front in Burma a Chinese expeditionary force engaged a mixed force of 800 Japanese and Thai soldiers in the Taungtakyen area north of Mongton. The Chinese forced the enemy troops to withdraw after inflicting heavy casualties.

A French officer with the enemy forces was captured, the communique said.

Bay Of Bengal Islands Taken By Japanese

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, March 26.—Authoritative circles in London today assumed that Japanese forces have followed up their occupation of the deserted Andaman Islands by taking the nearby Nicobar Islands, in the Bay of Bengal.

There is an excellent land-locked harbor at Nancowry in this group of 19 islands, and good anchorages throughout. Their occupation is expected to help the Japanese in extending their naval operations further into the Bay of Bengal and the Indian ocean.

Morely Richards, military reporter of the Daily Express, said that in any case the Nicobars now would be indefensible.

"Since the Nicobars are officially a part of the group administered by the same chief commissioners as the Andamans, it is presumed that they, too, have been evacuated," Richards said.

LONDON, March 26—The "combined and overwhelming strength" of the United Nations can turn the tide of war if all concerned will make the necessary sacrifices, Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today in a sombre recital of Britain's military setbacks throughout the world.

Detailing all the defeats in the Far East and elsewhere and revealing that even the battle of the Atlantic has "grown worse again," Churchill appealed for unanimity and lashed out at propagandists seeking to undermine morale of the army.

The Prime Minister spoke to the National Union of Conservative Associations. He was given a rousing welcome, belying a whispering campaign to the effect that his official conservative backers were falling away from him.

Legislature Adjourns Over Week-End

End Of Session Still Uncertain

Little Success Attends Move For Final Adjournment Next Week

MANY MEASURES STILL PENDING

By JOHN PAGET
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 26.—Tentative plans for final adjournment next week of the legislature appeared headed for little success today as the special session recessed until Monday with the fate of scores of bills still unsettled.

Both houses closed the three-day legislative week yesterday with brief sessions. The senate met for 13 minutes while the house convened for a 40-minute session. Only routine business was transacted. The short sessions were prompted by a desire of Democratic legislators to attend the meeting of the state committee where party candidates were endorsed.

Republican senators held in abeyance a final adjournment resolution because there was little support evidenced among house members. However, Rep. Leo A. Achterman, Monroe Democrat and majority floor leader, indicated the Democrats were moving toward final adjournment by declaring that a house committee was studying four or five subjects for consideration by the house. Present indications are that the legislature may adjourn during the week of April 6, not later than April 11.

Pass Salary Bill

Only bill passed yesterday by the senate and sent to the house for concurrence was the measure yesterday appropriating approximately $139,000 for payment of legislators' $250 extra salaries and the wages of assembly employes. The upper house pigeon-holed two measures that would have continued operators' licenses of men inducted into the armed services. Members explained that the proposals probably were not within the provisions of the special session call outlined by Gov. Arthur H. James. Placed in position for final passage next week was a measure authorizing the highways department to issue permits for "over-weight and over-length" vehicles to use the state's highways when engaged in transportation of war materials.

In the house, the Stevenson relief bill was advanced to second reading and in position for final approval by the end of the week. The bill, already passed by the senate, would permit relief recipients to earn $15 a month up to a maximum of $150 a year without comparable reductions being made by the department of public assistance.

Rep. Thomas J. Heatherington, Allegheny Democrat, said he would appear before the house select committee on special session legislation next Tuesday in an effort to have the "hot tire" bill favorably reported for consideration. The measure provides for fines and imprisonment of purchasers or vendors of tires without serial numbers. The proposal was drafted to curtail tire thefts resulting from tire rationing and the rubber shortage.

Curtin told the dinner that the war will be conducted "with dynamic energy and inflexible purpose," but said the proceedings of the war council must be kept secret.

"I have no doubt that just as we can surprise the enemy we will gratify ourselves," he said. "News of what we have done and what we will do will be the only kind of news which in the future the war council will make available."

After concluding the initial conference shortly before 6 p. m. the American supreme commander in the southwest Pacific met British, Canadian and Chinese government representatives in the Australian capital.

Motor 400 Miles

MacArthur, accompanied by his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Richard Sutherland, and Brig. Gen. Richard Marshall, motored the 400 miles from his headquarters at Melbourne. While en route he examined the countryside with a view to defense of the territory in event of a Japanese attack.

Upon his arrival in Canberra he was welcomed on the steps of the parliament house by Army Minister Francis M. Forde. Citizens lined the streets of Canberra to cheer the colorful American general who has been idolized by the Australian people since his arrival in the commonwealth.

"There's that wonderful man, and he looks and acts it," one woman was heard to say as MacArthur stepped from his car.

MacArthur met United States Minister Nelson T. Johnson and Army Minister Forde on the steps with warm handshakes.

Forde then escorted MacArthur and his aides to Prime Minister Curtin's suite in the building. They were cheered as they proceeded through the corridors.

The prime minister left a parliament meeting to meet MacArthur privately before taking him into the council session.

Following the war council meeting and his visits with the representatives of Britain, Canada and China, MacArthur was guest of honor at a parliamentary dinner in his honor.

MacArthur visited a night sitting of the House of Representatives, joining the ranks of only a few foreigners to be given a seat on the floor of the House. He was introduced by Speaker Nairn as a "distinguished stranger."

Citation For MacArthur

Awarded by President Roosevelt, the nation's highest military honor was granted MacArthur with the following citation, which explains graphically the almost unprecedented defense of the Philippines:

"For conspicious leadership in preparing the Philippine Islands to resist conquest, for gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action against invading Japanese forces, and for heroic conduct of defensive and offensive operations on the Bataan Peninsula.

"He mobilized, trained, and led an army which has received world acclaim for its gallant defense against a tremendous superiority of enemy forces in men and arms.

"His utter disregard of personal danger under heavy fire and aerial bombardment, his calm judgment in each crisis, inspired his troops, galvanized the spirit of resistance of the Filipino people, and confirmed the faith of the American people in their armed forces."

Even more than Bataan Peninsula, Corregidor stands today as a monument to MacArthur's "leadership in preparing the Philippine Islands to resist conquests." Until its guns are silenced, Corregidor will prevent the Japanese from using important Manila Bay as a base for further conquest.

Value Demonstrated

Corregidor's power and strategic value were demonstrated early in the Pacific conflict when the Japanese January 3 sent a formation of 60 bombers against it in a raid that lasted five hours and cost the enemy at least three expensive aircraft, while the defenders counted only 13 dead.

Without a break, the attacks then were resumed daily for nearly a week by waves of 20 to 50 bombers, but each time they were driven off, and army communiques reported tersely that three, five or seven aircraft were shot down.

The raids ceased entirely about the middle of January and were not renewed in force until this week after Wainwright ignored a Japanese ultimatum to surrender.

Then, early in February, concealed enemy batteries on the Cavite shore of Manila Bay began a siege of Corregidor and other island forts. Ranging to powerful 12-inch pieces, Corregidor's guns again proved too much for the Japanese in subsequent duels—another blow to the invaders.

These incidents have demonstrated to the Japanese that even a decisive victory in Bataan would not change greatly the present picture in the Manila area unless Corregidor and the three other forts are taken.

Another phrase in the citation to MacArthur which stated that he "galvanized the spirit of resistance of the Filipino people," has been borne out recently by increased offensive activity by American and native troops on the Island of Mindanao, on which sharp skirmishes have taken place.

Following, however, she was amply rewarded with a lovely housecoat, as a "going away" gift from the club.

VITAMINS help fight off Colds

1. Danger months are here! Colds are at their peak. Now is the time to be doubly careful. Get plenty of sleep. Eat good food. Take lots of exercise. And be sure you get enough vitamins and minerals. For lack of them can mean lowered resistance to colds. If you've been low on vitamins, you may be surprised at how they help you fight off colds. Today you can get all the vitamins you may need at the lowest cost ever. They are in pleasant tablet form. Just ask for Vimms.

2. Your doctor knows that deficiencies in a single vitamin are rare. And no 1 or 2 vitamins can do the work of the others. There are 6 vitamins known to be essential in nutrition. And Vimms give you all six. A and D, of course! Plenty of C, too. And all three necessary B Complex vitamins (B1, B2 and P.P.). And that's not all. For minerals are fully as important as vitamins. So Vimms give you three most essential minerals—Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

3. And America needs you fit. We can't afford the 50,000,000 wasted days that colds alone cost every year. That's doubly true in wartime. If you have frequent colds—if you're always tired, jumpy, irritable, you may be one of the "3 out of 4" who need more vitamins and minerals, according to Government experts.

When you keep up your resistance with vitamins and minerals, you may feel much better, too. Add Vimms to your whole family's diet today and every day. No other product of comparable type and potency costs you so little.

SPRING IN RUSSIA

WITH Russia ripping at the spearheads Hitler has been attempting to prepare during the winter for his spring offensive, the world is now on the verge of some tremendous turn in the conflict. If Russia, with the help of co-operating nations, can battle Germany to a standstill this spring and summer, that development will be a turntable switching the world to a comparatively short war.

If Hitler cannot break through the Russion bastions, his armies as an aggressive threat are done for. He might do much threshing about elsewhere but his power would be definitely on the wane.

But if Hitler could break through to oil and other supplies, his power would wax. All short cuts to Allied victory might vanish. It would then be extremely difficult to make Germany blockade proof and Hitler's weakness in supplies would be repaired.

Mosciw's claims of victories assuming the proportions of tremendous triumphs give a hopeful cast to the outlook. But untolding of the real story awaits Hitler's next offensive effort. Has he been engaged in a rear-guard action this winter covering gigantic preparations for campaigns in the warm months? Or have Russia's winter efforts finally sapped his strength?

The answer will not be known until tank meets tank and shock troops meet shock troops. And that test is coming.

WOODEN TIRES

Newspapermen who view a demonstration of wooden automobile tires in New Jersey think the inventor may have something, but they are not sure.

The demonstration was staged with a light coupe, a pair of wooden tires on the front wheels. The tires come in four sections for each wheel, each section bolted to the rim. The tires are five-ply, the plies being placed side by side instead of one on top of the other. The wood is chemically treated to minimize contraction and expansion. The inventor declares that a tire can be produced for $10.

He says that while traction would hold down mileage if tires were used on rear wheels, his wooden tires on front wheels of light motor cars driven at 35 miles an hour or less should last from 12,000 to 15,000 miles.

SOME RECAPPED TIRES ON WAY

Announcement by the Office of Price Administration that almost 500,000 recapped tires will be made available in April for limited numbers of taxi drivers, defense workers, traveling salesmen and certain other civilians will lighten worries in a good many households. This will be the first release of tires for passenger automobiles other than those listed under the rationing program for new tires.

However, the close to half a million recapped tires and the April quota of 101,636 new tires for passenger cars will fall far short of the country's needs. Many private drivers whose tires are wearing thin won't be able to replace them in April. All car users ought to economize on their tires to the greatest possible extent.

Announcement that some recapped tires will be issued gives new point to the necessity of finding some way to provide more tires than are now in sight for the next few months. We are a nation on wheels. Much of our war effort is keyed to quick transportation. Development of sythetic rubber and provision of natural rubber from such sources as Brazil are mandatory requirements.

WHEN CENSORSHIP ISN'T NEEDED

Discussing censorship with newspapermen in Australia, General MacArthur declared he didn't believe in any form of censorship which would keep from the people the bald, even brutal facts about what's going on.

MacArthur faces facts. He knows what he is up against and that means what we are up against. He knew on Bataan where, about the time he was talking to the assembled war correspondents in Australia, his old comrades in arms in the Philippines were drafting a stirring message to him that they would stick to the limit until MacArthur returns, leading victorious armies and air forces.

MacArthur intends to strike the Japanese with mighty force and roll them back. But he has told us what is needed. He creates fighting spirit. He cannot create planes, tanks, guns and shells. If they are sent to him in full measure and in time he will win splendid victories—which require no censorship. If they are too little and too late no amount of censorship will serve to withhold from us the bitter truth obout the outcome.

A NEW DEVICE

With much fanfare a second War Powers bill giving the President the widest authority any chief executive has yet had is being passed by congress. To speed organization for the handling of the emergency, the President now has almost complete power over property, production and the occupation of citizens.

That congress in delegating this authority had some misgivings is indicated by a clause inserted in the law. It reads: "Titles (powers) of this act shall remain in force until December 31, 1944, or until such earlier time as congress by concurrent resolution, or the President, may designate."

This means that at any time congress desired it could revoke the powers by its own vote without the signature of the President. Constitutionally, that is new ground. It was first employed in the Lend-Lease Act last year, it is in the Draft Extension Act of last August, in the first War Powers Act of December, in the recent communications Act amendments and now in the second War Powers Act.

It has long been presumed that under the Constitution the President has a share in the legislative process—that he must sign Congressional enactments before they become law. But some persons now argue that when the President signs a bill containing such a provision, he acquiesces in a limitation of his own power.

It is likely that a Supreme Court decision will some day establish a precedent on this point.

The report that Russia is now "getting" war supplies from Germany was a misprint. "Taking" is the word.

Japs have had air superiority, but Australia will unfold a different story.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CAUSES OF FEAR IN THE NIGHT

Night terrors may arise from such physical causes as ear infection, nose obstruction, or digestive disorders, which only a doctor is qualified to diagnose and treat properly.

More often than not, however, night terrors result from experiences by day—too great excitement, fatigue, conflicts, fears, anxieties and jealousies. The bright and highly imaginative child seems more prone to night terrors than the dull and matter-of-fact child.

"Dear Mr. Myers: My four-year-old girl seems to be a very bright child. She remembers practically everything she hears, sees or does and she also has a feeling she is big enough to help take care of her two-year-old sister and help with the household chores. But at night she sleeps two or three hours and then is awakened by her own screaming.

"Quite a number of times I had to carry her out of bed and give her a drink of water to quiet her down. When I asked her why she did that, she said, 'The little kitties were biting me.' I have no animals and I don't see why she has that on her mind constantly. If it is possible, kindly inform me how I might help my child stop having these nightmares. For your convenience I am enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it."

The Doctor's Answer

Here is how I answered her: During the day, do not talk about her night terrors. When they arise go to her, as you have been doing, and make her feel secure. To bathe her face and hands with a cool sponge will help waken her. She might not be awake, though her eyes be as wide open as a rabbit's.

Of course, you should have your doctor check on her diet, and her eating and elimination habits; also on her ears, nose and throat. He probably will examine her still more thoroughly. Protect her from teasing, fear stories and fear experiences. While she should play out of doors with other children of her age, see that it is not for too long a time at a stretch.

Break up her exciting periods of play by reading a quiet story, singing softly to her, or rocking or holding her on your lap fondling her. Induce her to draw, color and make things with paper, cardboard, paste, etc.

Try to keep your voice soft and low, and the radio silent while she is awake, and try to effect a serene family atmosphere. No movies for her at all, of course, for the next several years.

She may feel she is loved less than the baby. Avoid praising or fondling the baby often in her presence, or comparing them. Discipline the baby not to mess up Big Sister's things. Show this older child more affection, you and Dad. Read to her, walk with her, talk with her, answer all her questions and make her feel she is your Big Girl.

On the folder which lists and describes my 15 pamphlets, I have marked two: "Reducing nervousness and fears," and "Preventing and reducing jealousies."

Solving Parent Problems

Q. How long do you suggest reading to a child two years old, and how often each day?

A. About as long and often as the child likes and you have time and energy to do it, barring interference with the child's routines.

FINGER PRINTING

Many citizens of this country have opposed universal fingerprinting because they associate this act with criminals. They cannot understand what advantage it is to them to have their finger prints on file in a police station. This opposition to finger-printing is gradually growing less and I believe it will not be long now until it will be accepted by almost everyone as a routine requirement, not only in the interest of the whole public but particularly, of interest to the individual.

The war has brought home, very impressively, arguments for the system. Finger-printing is now a requirement of the Federal government for all in the service of the United States, not only in the armed forces, but in the civilian service. Several million identity cards are now on file in Washington and duplicates of these cards are furnished to the police departments of all cities. What began as a means for the identification of criminals is now considered a protection, and insurance against crime, accidents, or loss of memory.

My finger-print is now upon my automobile driver's license. It is a state requirement that the recipient of a driver's license have his thumb print thereon. In some cities of this country, school children are finger-printed. For obvious reasons, it is better than identification by metal disks, for no one ever loses his filed finger-print.

There are many accidents occurring in this country every day where no identification marks can be found upon the victim of the accident. Police often pick up men and women wandering around in a dazed condition, who cannot tell who they are—their memory entirely gone. Finger-prints identify them.

DOING OUR PART AT HOME

In these days of strife and war, women's heart and souls are sore to think may be on this day, they'll cal for him to go away. But when this happens, we, each and all, will send him off—straight and tall, with a smile on our lips, though our eyes smart with tears unshed, and a bleeding heart. It would seem so hard to give him up, especially if he's all you've got. But always we must remember, too, that there are things we can do. For—if we do our duty as well as he, just think how happy he will be, when he comes home and finds that you have been fighting for our country, too!

STREET CAR ETIQUETTE

"Can't you give the boys a hint on street car etiquette? I don't expect to be given a seat, but I do think men should show women a little courtesy, especially when getting in and out. And I do object to being caught in a stampede every time there is a vacant seat."—Joan.

Answer: I don't blame you for objecting, Joan, if that is the treatment you receive. A generation ago, no gentleman would sit down in a street car and allow a woman to setand. But in this day of equal rights when there are as many women strap-hangers as there are men, the poor tired businessman would stand indefinitely every day if he took this point of etiquette too seriously. Although this form of exaggerated chivalry is now moribund, a man should not be too forgetful of the "weaker sex". He should give the women standing near him a chance to take vacant seats before he rushes to sit down. And he should never remain seated while there is standing an old woman or a woman, young or old, holding a baby. No gentleman, even in these busy days, would forget his sense of chivalry and manners to the extent of pushing his way in or out of a street car.

Question: (1) When do I call myself "Mrs. Roberts" and when "Mary Roberts"? (2) How do I introduce my husband? (3) Is it proper for a woman to shake hands with gloves on? What about a man.—D. M.

Answer: (1) When introducing yourself say: "I am Mrs. Roberts" so that all will know they should address you as "Mrs." When giving your name to servants, tradesmen, etc.—any one not conected with your social life—use your title "Mrs." On all other social occasions, announce yourself as "Mary Roberts." (2) Mrs. Smith, this is my husband. Mr. Smith, this is my husband. Do not mention his surname, unless those to whom you are introducing him do not know it. (3) It is proper for a woman to shake hands with her gloves on. Men should remove the right "street" glove. Gloves to be worn indoors, such as at formal affairs, should not be removed for this purpose.

MY VICTORY GARDEN

I have a Victory garden,
It is only a small square;
But you should see the vegetables
That are growing there.

The row are straight and even—
I have carrots, peas, and beans,
Radishes, onions and lettuce,
Parsley, spinach and greens.

A few old-fashioned flowers
Bloom in my garden bed.
Petunias, hollyhocks and marigolds
And zinnias, yellow and red.

It is a joy to work in my garden
Where I spend many happy hours.
So glad to do my little bit
For this beloved country of ours.

I whistle and hoe and sing as I go,
Shortening the rows by the songs I know.
And as I whistle I must be sure to hoe,
For if I am idle the weeds will grow.

My friends who come visiting
Think it is a great treat
To dine upon my vegetables,
That are so tender and sweet.

So, plant a Victory garden—
Get out in the sun and air,
Raise all the vegetables you can eat,
And have some to spare.

Longer Work Day Might Prove Costly
Productivity Might Drop As Result
Recall Days When Men Worked Longer

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 26—When I was a kid 10 hours was labor's standard working day. It had been 12 but two hours had been lopped off in practically all sorts of mechanical plants. Employerdom didn't like to grant the reduction at the time it was coerced into doing so, but soon afterward it began recognizing that it was a good thing, from the bosses' own standpoint, because it had increased their hirelings' productivity per man more than enough to offset the shrinkage in the day's length.

The next reduction, down to eight hours, was effected within my personal recollection.

I heard the ensuing talk myself. Just as on the preceding occasion, employers had acquiesced in the second cut very reluctantly, but it wasn't long before they began admitting that they'd downright profited by it, their toilers worked so much more energetically.

The generally accepted explanation was that a man on a 60 to 72-hour weekly schedule was everlastingly all fagged out, beyond the physical capacity to put much pep into his job, but he could stand 48 hours pretty well.

If it had been the hired men alone who told this story, I might have discounted it to a certain extent, but to listen to it from high-up industrialists and miscellaneous economists was middling convincing. The theory of the thing was plausible, too.

There's a Limit

There was more whittling later, down to 40 weekly hours.

No doubt it's a process that can be overdone. A chop down to one daily hour surely wouldn't increase production. No matter how hard and fast a laborer scrabbled on a six-hour weekly basis, he scarcely could out-produce one working 40, 48 or even 72 hours in the same period.

The fact remains that experts concur in voting for around a maximum of eight daily hours six times weekly, as a big output's best friend.

Now, in the interests of huge war production, the agitation's general, except possibly on the workers' part, for boosting the hourly limit almost indefinitely.

It's also for the abolition of overtime, and double time pay for holidays, and for abolition of the closed shop likewise, for the abolition of everything suspected of interference with our war effort.

Now, there isn't enough dissent to wad a shotgun from the propo-

The Jones Report

Washington, March 26.

THERE are some extraordinary features about the report which Mr. Jesse Jones has just submitted. For one thing, it is more free from the flubdub of the press agent than any that can now be recalled. For another, it permits the facts to tell the story without adjectival argument or self-praise.

ACTUALLY, the story is a fascinating and impressive one. For the first time the tremendous extent to which the conduct of defense and war rests upon business ability in the Government is disclosed. It is also made clear how completely our effort would bog down if that ability were lacking. No one can read this simply worded report without realizing the magnitude of the expanded operations of the RFC and the skill with which they have been administered. When it is considered how easily this gigantic task might have fallen into the hands of some third-rate New Deal politician, the escape of the country is something for which to be thankful. In its essence, the Jones report is an accounting for the loans and commitments in connection with the war, amounting to the stupendous sum of 11½ billions.

THE job of financing defense plants, collecting raw materials from all quarters of the globe, manufacturing synthetic substitutes to meet shortages and expanding industrial equipment has been done by setting up a group of companies, owned and operated by RFC personnel under Jones supervision. Chief among them are the Defense Plant Corporation, the Defense Supplies Corporation, Metal Reserve Company, Rubber Reserve Company, War Insurance Corporation and Export-Import Bank.

THERE is no space here to present the full picture of what has been done with this 11½ billion. It is enough to say that more than 700 defense plants have been buttressed financially; that 97 per cent of the loans have been under a million dollars; that a vast variety of the metals, minerals and commodities, without which the war could not proceed have been bought, transported, grown, stored and supplied. The nature, size and vital import-

One Man's Opinion

(International News Service Staff Writer)

We are dreaming up a new program which we will call "This is awful!" and offer when "this is war!" isn't on the air.

Have you heard "this is war!" Have you any reason to disagree with Sherman?

Our program will be hysteria set to music. It will pack a "message" in every shriek and mickey finn in every denunciation.

It will scold and berate and waggle its forefinger and chase the kids under the bed and the adults into the clothes closets.

It will scream at them that "this is a democracy—see!" And it will beat their brains out with phoney dramatics.

It will growl and snarl at them and then it will push the flag into their faces and sign off with "this program is offered in the spirit of a unified people."

That will be the payoff. That will be the supreme sacrilege.

HAPPIGRAMS

by ERICH BRANDEIS

A little upper-crust boy asked his mother:

"Mummie, is it true that if we have to go into an air-raid shelter we have to mix with just everybody?"

Whereupon the mother replied:

"Yes, sonny, they haven't invented any first and second bombs yet."

We are told that, in England, air raids have been the great social leveler.

Lady Uppington has discovered that the greengrocer's wife is a human being, just like herself, and that bombs have absolutely no respect for money or title.

Let us hope that we won't have to learn by actual experience.

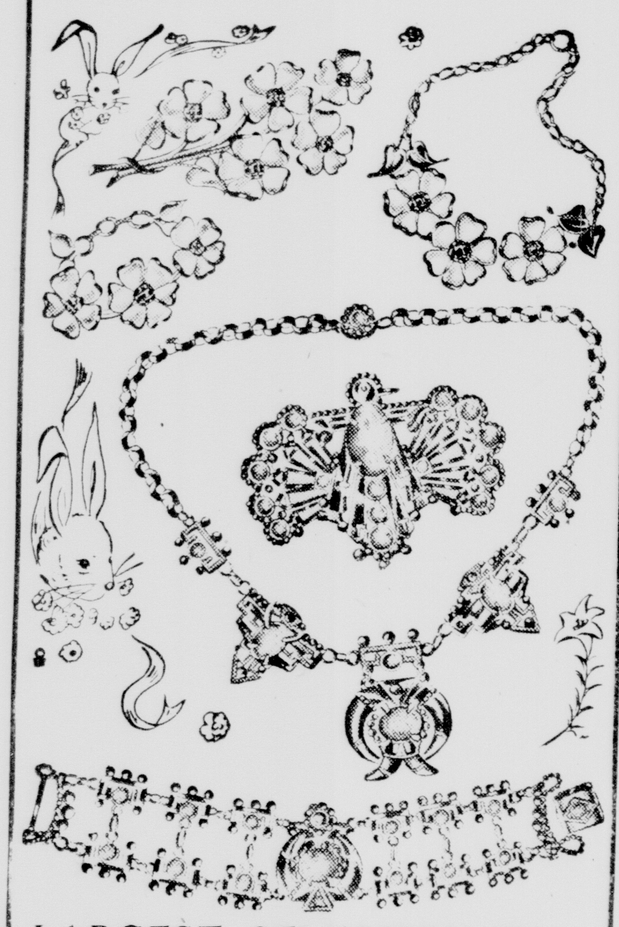

But let us begin now to realize that suffering and death are the common share of all men.

One thing that war does is to wash off the rouge and lipstick of vanity and conceit.

Why don't you get acquainted with your neighbor? He may be quite as good as you.

Davis To Stick, In Governor Race

U. S. Senator James J. Davis Says His Petitions Will Not Be Withdrawn

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 26—For a second time in as many weeks, U. S. Senator James J. Davis served notice on the state Republican organization today that he has no intention of quitting the race for the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination.

"I am just as much a candidate for governor as I ever was," Davis said after a talk with G. Graybill Diehm, Lancaster county commissioner, in Washington. Davis earlier had insisted he would remain in the fight, rejecting a proposal by his organization opponent, Maj. Gen. Edward Martin, that they both retire—presumably in favor of Secretary of Banking John C. Bell.

Diehm was suggested for the gubernatorial nomination by leaders of a number of southeastern counties, and he authorized the circulation of nomination petitions. Before entering the race, the Lancaster county leader conferred with Lieut. Gov. Samuel S. Lewis, who is also a candidate for governor.

Diehm's candidacy was reported in Harrisburg as acceptable to James F. Malone, Allegheny county insurgent leader, and to the independent new guard. There was talk of Malone running on the same ticket for lieutenant governor.

Davis was expected to file his nomination papers today. Petitions for him have been circulated in nearly all counties.

"I have signed and taken affidavit to my nominating petitions sent to me from many counties," Davis said. "They will be filed with the state elections bureau, in accordance with law.

"I have said many times thus far, and now say for what I hope will be the last time necessary, that my petition, under no circumstances, will be withdrawn."

Britain Presses Drive Against 'Draft Dodgers'

(International News Service)

LONDON—Men and women in Britain who hope to dodge national service by 'losing' themselves among London's millions are surprised at the speed with which the metropolitan police pick them up.

Labor ministry officials and Scotland Yard experts, aided by former police officers who have returned as advisers, have created a technique for catching dodgers that is now reaching perfection.

By an intricate system of cross-checking of official lists, it is possible to keep track of everybody in the country for national service purposes. As soon as anybody "vanishes", a hunt starts.

A former Scotland Yard official who is helping in this roundup said, "Our work is simplified by the tendency among would-be dodgers to try the same tricks.

"The difficulty of dodging is proved by the risks that many determined shirkers are now taking in having a lung collapse to deceive medical boards. Later the lung can be restored to normal, but it is a dangerous procedure."

Comb-out of "dodgers" is going ahead among aliens in Britain and among British people now in the United States. Government officials are investigating credentials of Britons known to be in the United States and Canada. They can be made to return for service by having their passports revoked.

RED ARCTIC FRONT ATTACKED BY HOST OF NAZI BOMBERS

Semyon Timoshenko apparently were bringing heavy pressure against Stalino.

The midnight Red army communique as usual was Laconic, stating merely that "no material changes" had taken place along the front throughout the night.

A supplementary announcement said 27 German planes had been destroyed March 24 while the Russians lost nine.

Waves Of Reds Advance

Reports emanating from Stockholm said that waves of heavy Soviet tank units and fresh infantry reserves had been sent in against Nazi fortified position around Stalino. The troops hammering Stalino, it was said, were believed to be led by General Kherevichenko who drove the Germans from the important oil city of Rostov.

Stockholm dispacthes said also that masses of reserves which Premier Joseph Stalin has had trained specially to meet any new German threat are now streaming into action on other fronts. This was said to be especially true on the Smolensk front where the Germans have been prevented from wresting the initiative.

Terrific Toll Of Nazis

A special communique was issued by the Soviet high command to show the terrific toll of German troops who have been attempting to slow down the steady Russian advance from Leningrad south to Taganrog.

On the Kalinin front, it was claimed, 61,000 Germans were killed between February 5 to March 21; on the central front 40,000 were killed between February 6 and March 5; 16,000 were slain on the Leningrad front from March 9 to March 22, and on the southern front 10,000 Germans were wiped out between March 7 and March 12.

German troops still were attempting to wrest the initiative from Russian troops by counter-attacks west of Moscow, according to the Moscow radio, but the assaults resulted in severe losses to the Nazis. During the past few days, it was said, 2,865 Germans were killed and 206 taken prisoner in a futile counter-attack west of the capital.

WPA Hopes To Relieve Farm Labor Shortage

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 26—Pennsylvania W.P.A. officials today launched a state-wide program to relieve the shortage of farm labor caused by migration of workers to war industries and induction into the armed services.

Richard Irvin, state W.P.A. administrator, said farmers could apply directly to county W.P.A. offices for men to aid in harvesting crops under the new plan.

"This year," he explained, "to obtain W.P.A. labor for farm work, a farmer has only to make his request known in the county in which he lives and to agree to pay the workers made available to him the rate prevailing in that county for the particular work to be done."

The program will be directed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture with the cooperation of W.P.A., the U. S. Employment Office and the State Department of Agriculture.

Two Air Force Training Schools Will Be Set Up

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 26—The war department today announced it has authorized construction of the two air force training schools, one near Pecos, Tex., and the other in the vicinity of Monroe, La.

Each costing in excess of $5,000,000, the contracts call for the services of Wyatt C. Hedrick, Inc., of Fort Worth, Tex., in connection with the Pecos school, and Black and Veatch, Kansas City, Mo., for architectural and engineering services at Monroe.

American Airmen Winning Laurels

South Pacific Conflict Is Producing Many American Air Heroes

(International News Service)

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Australia, March 26.—American airmen in the south Pacific already are winning many laurels for heroic deeds in this war but the accounts that can be related today are only the beginning of what the brave United States forces are expected to embiazon on the pages of history.

Sergt. William Sage, a bombardier of New Albany, Ind., has won high praise for saving single-handedly an American flying fortress bomber and preventing destruction of vital installations of a United Nations airdrome.

Among others to gain prominence for their daring feats are Captain Henry Godman, of Palo Alto, Cal.; Lieut. Richard Carlisle, of Hattiesburg, Miss.; Capt. Donald Keiser, of Honolulu; Lieut. Milton Beekman, of Gransbury, N. J., and Sergt. Lewis Coburn of Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Not all of these men have been publicly cited for the feats, and some never may be, but at this early stage of the gigantic battle of the Pacific they are proving their gallantry.

No Objection To Lindbergh Working For Ford Interests

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The war department will interpose no objection to the retention of Charles A. Lindbergh by the Ford interests as an aviation expert, Secretary of War Stimson indicated today.

Upon leaving a White House cabinet meeting, Stimson was asked abdut reports from Detroit that Ford is seeking war department permission to engage the flier.

"I have not heard of such a request," Stimson said, "but I certainly would have no objection."

TERRIFIC BLAST OCCURS AT QUARRY NEAR EASTON, PA.

Chester Fazio, superintendent of Easton hospital, were blown to bits by the blast in which, according to reports, 15 tons of dynamite let go. The hospital and other nearby institutions sent ambulance and first aid crews to the scene, but there was little for them to do as all in the quarry reportedly were beyond medical aid.

Leonard Sabatine, owner of the Sabatine Coal Company, located across Route 611 from the cement company, visited the scene and reported:

"It was a terrible sight. Dead bodies were strewn all around the place. The workmen were loading a big hole when she accidentally went off.

"There must have been 15 tons of powder in the blast. Everybody on the top of the quarry was killed, those down under escaped.

"There wasn't anything anybody could do. The bodies—I presume about 25—were just left lying where the blast hurled them until the coroner arrived."

Toll Not Confirmed

A spokesman at the Lehigh-Portland plant said no one in the buildings of the company was injured and it would be some time before the dead could be counted and identified.

The 12 injured children were hurled from their seats in the classroom of the Martin's Creek public school. None was seriously hurt, doctors reported.

For more than an hour after the explosion, startled residents of the area rushed to telephones to learn the cause, many to confirm what they "knew"—that it was an earthquake. The volume of telephone calls tied up all the trunk lines into Easton for more than 30 minutes.

The cement company is located on Route 611, which runs parallel to the Delaware river.

Although there was no evidence to support any theory of sabotage, state police and F.B.I. agents were expected to conduct a thorough investigation. The cause of the premature explosion, however, may never be learned since all in the immediate area are dead.

In the explosion, a tremendous column of grayish white smoke shot high into the sky. Mixed with the smoke were tons of rock and the bodies of the victims.

Explosion Felt Far

The force of the concussion was terrific, not only in the vicinity of the city of Easton, but throughout the Lehigh Valley section. Thousands of persons were terrified and same panic-stricken by the explosion, which smashed plant glass windows miles away. As far distant as Doylestown, approximately 50 miles from the scene, dishes rattled in cupboards and pictures shook on walls of stone residences.

State Police Private Schafer, one of the first to reach the scene, reported to his headquarters at Easton that 25 bodies had been counted.

Schafer told his superiors that 45 men were working in the quarry when the detonation occurred. Besides the dead, he said, several had not been accounted for. But, he added, in view of the confusion, this did not mean that they were victims of the explosion.

Returning from a bird's-eye view, two airmen reported at Easton airport that they saw twisted masses of metal, which once had been trucks, lying helter-skelter about the quarry. Rescuers, they said, were placing blankets over a number of persons lying on the ground.

We'll be ready in 1943. But the challenger wins today's fight by default if the champ thinks the fight is next week.

Monthly Benefits Being Paid Here Reach $11,480

Monthly benefits under the old-age and survivors insurance program amounting to $11,480 were being paid to 589 men, women and children in Lawrence county at the end of 1941, the second year of operation on a monthly insurance payment basis, it was announced yesterday by George W. Ervin, manager of the New Castle office of the Social Security board. At the end of 1940, benefits amounting to $6,868 a month were being paid to 329 persons.

The figures were based on computations just received from the office of William L. Dill, regional director for the board at Philadelphia. It was pointed out that the annual rate of payments is now $137,760. These figures do not include lump sum payments which are made to persons who are not immediately entitled to receive monthly benefits.

Payments In County

The Lawrence county payments were broken down by Mr. Ervin as follows: 305 retired workers, age 65 or over, $7,525 a month; 77 wives, age 65 or over, of retired insured workers, $956 a month; 51 young widows with dependent children under 18, $990 a month; 142 dependent children (under 18) of retired or deceased workers, $1,728 a month; 14 widows, age 65 or over, of insured workers who have died, $279 a month.

"Monthly payments are made also to dependent parents, above age 65, of insured workers who die without leaving a widow or dependent child who might subsequently become eligible for monthly benefits," Mr. Ervin explained.

These insurance payments, Mr. Irvin said, are based on the workers' average monthly wage and his period of coverage in the old-age and survivors insurance program. Widows receive three-fourths of the monthly benefit of the worker on whose account they are claimed; wives receive one-half as much as their husbands; children and parents also receive one-half the monthly benefit of the worker whose insured status made them eligible.

Is the Atlantic a one-way thoroughfare? If not, can't we trace the subs back to their nest?

The Great Game Of Politics

ance of Mr. Jones' job in connection with the war has not before been understood. What he has done and is doing is basic.

OF particular interest, because of the criticism directed at him, is the chapter on rubber. Mr. Jones does not refer to the attack nor defend himself. He merely lets the facts speak. Here they are: On June 25, 1940, congressional authority was first given him to purchase rubber. Four days later he signed an agreement with the International Rubber Regulation Committee, which controls over ninety-seven per cent of the world's output. From then on he purchased all the rubber the committee made available. The amount actually received and in transit to this country is approximately 673,000 tons, purchased at a cost of $292,000,000. The subject of synthetic rubber was taken up with the president in the spring of 1940, but his approval could not be obtained.

IT was not until six months later he could be got to authorize $25,000,000 for that purpose. Negotiations with rubber and oil companies were then begun and preliminary difficulties, such as patents, ironed out. On May 8, 1941, the synthetic problem was again discussed with the Senate Banking and Currency Committee and the president. The "consensus of opinion" was that limited operations should be undertaken. On May 16, 1941, agreements were concluded with leading producers of rubber, chemicals and oil products for construction of synthetic rubber to increase annual capacity in the country to 100,000 tons. Immediately following Pearl Harbor, negotiations to increase capacity to 400,000 tons were started. After Singapore, this was increased to 700,000 tons. Expenditures for these plants will be upward of $600,000,000 and by June, 1943, there will be no shortage. Meanwhile, Mr. Jones points out, while we have a bigger stock of rubber now than ever before, we have to supply our Allies as well as ourselves and a very strict rationing is necessary. This means a clear statement of the case.

IT shows that Mr. Jones began to buy a reserve supply of rubber as soon as Congress authorized him to do so and that he bought all that was available. It shows that he took up the matter of synthetic rubber nearly two years ago, and went as far in that direction as the president would permit. It shows that immediately after Pearl Harbor, which no one foresaw, there being no restrictions, he went the limit. Under the circumstances, it is difficult to see where in Mr. Jones lagged or why he should have to "take the rap." But, aside from rubber, the report is valuable for the realistic clarity with which it presents the cost, the essentials and the materialistic background of the war.

What's What At A Glance

sition that that effort shouldn't be interfered with by anything under the sun.

Yet these questions arise:

If a reasonable reduction in our daily working hours previously increased production, why wouldn't an increase in their number to their former, less productive figure, result in a productive decrease this time? If it would, it's a move in exactly the direction that we don't want to take.

And overtime and holiday double time?

Both were adopted with a view to preventing employers from overstretching the working day, to labor's financial advantage, it's true, but involving an occasional excess of working time to the point of frazzling it out past the point of 100 per cent efficiency.

And the closed shop?

Unionization may have been abused in spots, but, in the main, it has been a productive factor. It's played its important part in making our industries what they are—and want 'em to be still more of, in the present emergency. Will jerking the closed shop out from under 'em be beneficial in the long run?

Popular Opinion

The popular argument is that it's perfectly outrageous for civilian labor to insist on limitation of its hours, or overtime, with our selectees devoting their whole lives, and maybe sacrificing 'em, at the rate of $21 to $30 monthly.

Far be it from me to underestimate a selectee's sacrifices, but he's in a somewhat different classification than an industrial workingman.

The latter has normal expenses to meet out of his pay check. The selectee, unless his draft board makes insufficient allowances for his civilian necessities, is provided for. And one of 'em is that his workingman father's family's wartime expenses are adequately taken care of at home, and that pa isn't so over-toiled that his industrial efficiency deteriorates.

We musn't let our arsenals run short, due to pinching production workers too hard, in pay or hours or some such thing.

It isn't unpatriotic, even from a military standpoint, to argue labor's cause.

"Statesmen" don't change. They all drove out of Washington in carriages, taking their ladies and picnic lunches, to enjoy the battle of Bull Run.

Yes, we have the greatest productive power. All we need is the get-it-there-quick-enough power.

How things change. Middle-aged people can remember when the Book of Common Prayer included a plea for deliverance from the terrible Turk.

Actually, "sleeping like a top" means sleeping like a ncle. Coming from the French "dormir comme une taupe," the taupe was confused with the English word "top."

RUHR DISTRICT AGAIN BOMBED

Malta, the principal objectives of which were the harbor and a British ship just off the island coast. British fighter planes and anti-aircraft batteries destroyed three of the enemy craft, however, and inflicted probable serious damage on eight others, while the ship was escaping injury, the report said.

Raids On Coast

Nazi bombers also roared over the channel for the third consecutive night, raiding two southeast coastal areas and one district on the southwest coast. Slight damage was inflicted by lone raiders in one of the southeast areas and also the southwest sector, reports said.

The air ministry announced that R.A.F. bombers accompanied by fighter planes attacked shipyards at Letrait and other objectives in the Pas de Calais area. Two enemy fighter planes were destroyed and one British fighter was missing, the admiralty said.

Hundreds In Raid

LONDON, March 26.—Taking advantage of exceptionally good spring weather, hundreds of Royal Air Force bombers swept across the English channel overnight to pound industrial targets from the German Ruhr district to the Pas de Calais area of occupied France.

(The German official wireless quoted an Italian high command communique which said that R.A.F. bombers also assaulted Milan and Turin during the night, and a report from Vichy said British flyers dropped leaflets on Paris warning that other French factories such as the one at Renault will be bombed if they are turning out goods for the Germans.)

In announcing the large-scale raids, the air ministry said "good results" were believed to have been achieved. The raids were the latest incidents in the stepped-up aerial war in progress on both sides of the English channel and over the strategic British Mediterranean island of Malta.

Let's not brag about our great production capacity till the headlines quit saying: "The Japs control the air."

"Yes, my children, there is a Santa Claus," cooed Jesse Jones, as grown-up people profanely demanded facts.

CHURCHILL SEES LONG WAR AHEAD

almost unbroken series of military misfortunes. Can you wonder such a melancholy case, which I do not fear to tell of or face, should cause widespread distress and anxiety throughout the country and empire?

"We were driven out of Cyrenaica (Libya) and only partially reestablished ourselves there.

"We were driven out of Greece and Crete and have been attacked by a fresh and most formidable antagonist in the Far East. Hong Kong has fallen. Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies have been overrun.

Singapore has been the scene of the greatest disaster to British arms in our history.

"Allied squadrons in the Netherlands East Indies have been virtually destroyed.

"Burma is invaded and Rangoon has fallen. Very hard fighting is proceeding in Upper Burma.

"Australia is threatened and India is threatened.

"I cannot offer any guarantee we are not at the end of our misfortunes. It would be foolish for us to be prepared for further heavy blows. But just as last year I warned you could not have successes unchecked by reverses, so now in 1942 we need not expect to have reverses not relieved by successes.

Battle Grows Worse

"The battle of the Atlantic upon which all the time our power to live and carry on the war effort depends, now for the time being, has grown worse again.

"It now seems we and our Allies can not lose this war except through our own failure to use our combined and overwhelming strength and to use multiplying opportunities that will present themselves to us.

"It is in such movements as these that fortitude and courage are the only means of safety.

"We are engaged in a deadly grapple of two heavily armed opponents, both of whom have been preparing for years bending their whole national life to fulfillment of the gospel of war."

Referring to Japanese attacks on British Far Eastern possessions "which our bitter needs in the west forced us to leave so insufficiently guarded," Churchill emphasized the possibility of further shocks.

"I am not here to speak smooth words or making cheering promises," he said.

"But when we look back on the sombre year that has passed, and forward to the many trials that lie ahead, no one can doubt for a moment that there is an enormous improvement in our war position.

"A year ago we were alone.

"We now have on our side mighty allies sworn to us in close alliance and fighting on our side in all their growing power.

Hard War

"This is a very hard war. Its enormous and fearful problems reach down to the very foundations of human society. Its scope is worldwide. It involves all nations.

"The time has not come to form judgment on the past. All our thoughts and all our will-power must be concentrated upon what lies around us and before us.

"Yet as your leader I shall hope that when the whole story has been told it will be said of the conservative party in parliament and throughout the world: 'They strove for peace too long and when war came they proved themselves that main part of the raft upon which the salvation of Britain was founded and the freedom of mankind regained.'

"We must examine searchingly and repeatedly our own conduct and character and the quality of our war effort in every form and direction. We must make sure our fellow countrymen and our allies have the best service from us that we can give."

Churchill referred to criticisms of his regime and warned:

"There is one limit I must have respected. I cannot allow, while I bear chief responsibility, a propaganda to disturb the army or weaken confidence in the country and in the armed forces or in the qualities and character of our devoted corps of officers."

Y. W. C. A. Notes

SQUARE CIRCLE

There wil be no meeting of the Square Circle Thursday evening, March 26, and on Thursday, April 2. The next meeting for the group will be on April 9 at 8 o'clock.

JUNIOR RESERVES

Junior Girl Reserves of George Washington school held a meeting Wednesday afternoon in the school cafeteria. Devotions were led by Helen Papazickos.

A number of the girls are planning to make the sight-seeing trip to Pittsburgh on March 31 under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Stewart of the Y. W. C. A.

Still, if Stalin had not attacked the Fins and obtained sea and land bases, Russia might have gone down when Finns and Nazis attacked her.

PILOT WHO "BROUGHT MacARTHUR THROUGH" IN PLANE, THRILLED

from Bangor, Maine, told me today. "That was the proudest and happiest moment of my life. I never expect another thrill like that."

Bostrom is keenly aware of the high honor he received when he was selected to fly out over enemy-controlled waters, pick up General MacArthur and bring him and his party safely to Australia. He knows, of course, that for an assignment like that, the United States army would pick only an experienced pilot, noted for his skill, daring and coolness of judgment.

Praises Crew

Yet, he modestly declaims any special virtues and praises the members of the crew which accompanied him on the vital mission. And within 24 hours after he landed the MacArthur party, he was out on another bombing assignment!

"I am unable to tell you from what point I left or where I landed or the time required for the trip because that would be information for the Japs," he told me.

"However, I can say that I left in time to reach the rendezvous (an island to which General MacArthur and his party had gone by speedboat after slipping through the Japanese blockade of Luzon during the night.

Passes Jap Bases

"On my way north I had to bypass two big Jap bases. I wasn't worried about my personal safety, but I was deeply concerned about the fulfillment of my tremendously important mission.

"I was also concerned about the weather, because landing in darkness and storms is no picnic.

"Fortunately, the trip north was good and my navigator, Lieut. Roy Carruthers (of Westchester, N. Y.) could find a fly-speck in the middle of the Pacific ocean.

"Now and then my co-pilot, Lieut. Ted Teats (of Pittsburgh) would give me some rest.

"We found the whole (MacArthur) party eagerly awaiting us after a good landing.

"Their baggage was immediately stored aboard. We refuelled and then the party climbed aboard and we left at once on the return trip.

"General MacArthur sat in the radio operator's seat and I adjusted the strap for him. I believe it was his first airplane trip.

"Generals Henry and Sutherland (MacArthur aides) sat in the ship's nose. Mrs. MacArthur and their little son, Arthur, and the child's Chinese nurse, or 'Amah,' sat on a mattress in the baggage compartment.

"I never had such a smooth trip as that return journey. Everything went perfectly and nobody was sick.

"Ordinarily, I could tell you what people in my plane are doing, but this time I was so intent on my job that I had no time to look.

Sigh Of Relief

"I breathed a sigh of relief when I set my ship down safely in Australia. My one though was that I had done a big bit in helping win the war by bringing General MacArthur back with me.

"The whole party debarked, smiling, and everybody shook hands with me and thanked me."

Then came the big moment—the happiest moment of Bostrom's life—when the famous United Nations Commander of the Southwest Pacific area extended his personal thanks — and five-minute handshake.

General MacArthur told Bostrom that all of the crew of the flying fortress which brought the party to Australia would receive the order of the White Star.

The General didn't say what Bostrom would get, but all of his brother pilots believe that the likeable lieutenant is sure of promotion—and the highest honor MacArthur can bestow.

TALENT CLUB TO AUDITION TONIGHT

Talent club members will meet this evening at the community center, Pearson street, and will hold auditions to discover new talent.

Angelo Filigenzi and Mike Glorioso will be in charge of the auditions. This is an opportunity for those who wish to show their talent.

more success than those made against the forts day after day early in January.

"Damage to military installations was slight and our troops suffered only a few casualties," the communique said.

Simultaneously, sharp skirmishes between American and Japanese patrols were reported on Bataan, where activity has been increasing since Gen. Wainwright spurned Japanese surrender demands last Sunday.

Day's Communique

Text of the war department's 162nd communique as of 9:30 a. m (E. W. T.) follows:

"Philippine Theater—The fortified islands at the entrance to Manila bay were again subjected to heavy aerial bombardment by the enemy. Fifty-four heavy Japanese bombers participated in the attack which continued for six hours. Most of the bombing was concentrated on Corregidor. Damage to military installations was slight and our troops suffered only a few casualties. Four enemy planes were shot down by our anti-aircraft artillery.

"In Bataan there were sharp skirmishes between patrols along the entire front.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

Luce's version: "We can make our life sublime, but the critics leave behind us footprints on the pants of time."

We make our own fate; and when at last we have exterminated the birds, Heaven will let the insects destroy us.

CHINESE TROOPS ENTER THAILAND

tactics as they did with success when less than 1,000 enemy forces outflanked the Chinese and cut the railway north of Toungoo.

Not Optimistic

The situation, although not serious, is not optimistic," a Chinese military spokesman said.

Three Japanese divisions, equalling the present United Nations strength in the area, were reported participating in the offensive. One column pushed up along the Rangoon-Mandalay railroad, a second thrust along the Rangoon-Prome railway line and the third was held in reserve.

Front-line dispatches said that Chinese troops destroyed part of a Japanese motorized column and a number of guns before the raiding parties operating from Mengling crossed the border to attack enemy outposts in Thailand.

The spokesman estimated that Japanese forces in northern Thailand totalled one division, aided by an undisclosed number of Thai troops. Two other Japanese divisions were reported concentrating in Shansi province preparatory to mopping up Chinese troops along the Fen river and in western Shansi.

Salvage Campaign Is Launched In County

Determined that Lawrence county shall do its share in salvaging all materials that will aid the prosecution of the war, the Salvage Committee of the Lawrence County Council of Defense opened its campaign today with the appointment of several departmental heads by Chairman Ross D. Rosenberger.

Numa F. Vidal is named Administrator of Collection of all salvage materials. Norman A. Martin, Director of Analysis, John C. Syling, Administrator of Disposal, and Bart Richards, Director of Publicity. These are but the beginning of appointments and in the next few days committee heads for New Castle, Ellwood City, the boros and townships of the county, will be named and with them, citizens to serve in the cause.

Salvage Necessary

The salvaging of necessary war materials is vital the government has said. Steel and iron, rubber and paper, bronze and copper, lead and zinc all of them are short and every pound of them in the nation that is not at work must be put to work.

Not a home, a shop or a plant in the county but has scrap materials lying about. Those worn out rubber overshoes, discarded rubber tires, that old zince wash board, that section of lead pipe, those old magazines and newspapers, tin cans, all of them are needed badly by the government and all of them should be turned in by householders. The message of salvage is already known to industrialists and they will be expected to salvage any metallic scrap they have around their plants.

Right now the need for steel scrap is so dire that many furnaces are down because of the lack of it. Yet the need for guns and tanks and ships is so imperative that every furnace in the nation should be going four hours every day of the week.

Rubber Shortage Acute

The rubber shortage is acute, as if you didn't know. Not only are your tires shut off and many other rubber products but the government is calling for scrap rubber tires, overshoes, or what have you in order that the rubber in them may be reclaimed.

Paper is needed. That scrap paper you have wanted to get rid of can be turned into cartons in which ammunition can be packed. Those magazines that clutter up the attic stairway can be used again.

The schools create a lot of scrap paper everyday. Old examination papers, scratch paper, paper towels, all of them can be used and all of them will be used if they can be gathered.

The necessity of salvage is so vital that it cannot be stressed too strongly. Every citizen, every school child in Lawrence County can help in this campaign to gather up materials that will help win the war.

The plan of gathering scrap will be unfolded shortly and when the actual campaign time arrives Lawrence County will undoubtedly come through in its usual magnificent fashion. In the meantime, don't destroy anything of metal, rubber or paper Save it and send it to the Japs in another form.

State Conference On Social Work Is Set For April

Word has been received by the local Community Chest office that a state conference on Social Work will be held in the State Education building, Harrisburg, April 6 to 11, when volunteer war workers and social workers will meet to study current problems and trends in the field of social service.

The conference will emphasize the relationship of community social work to the total war effort.

James M. Landis, United States Director of Civilian Defense, will speak on "Social Work and Civilian Defense" at a mass meeting, Friday night, April 10, the culminating session of the conference. Dean Landis plans to try to answer the questions hundreds of volunteers throughout Pennsylvania have been asking.

National income has increased twenty billion; Morgenthau asks for half that sum in taxes. Levy the tax fairly, where the new income is, and nobody would feel it.

Award Contracts For New Ships

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The maritime commission Wednesday announced award of contracts for the construction of 56 tankers and one six-way ship yard.

The tankers will be constructed at the Kaiser Swan island shipyard, near Portland, Ore., and the new shipyard will be constructed by the Brunswick Marine Corp., at Brunswicks, Ga.

At the same time the commission said that a contract for the construction of 30 liberty cargo ships was awarded to the Brunswick Co., and that 30 liberty ships would be built at the Kaiser yards at Vancouver, Wash. These ships are part of a contract for the construction of 70 liberty ships previously awarded to the Kaiser Co. The commission did not say where the other ten would be built.

Kiwanis Members Have Blood Typed

Members Hear Talks By Lions Club Committee On Project—Plan Joint Meeting

Kiwanis Club members heard members of the blood typing committee of the New Castle Lions Club speak on this subject at their meeting Wednesday at noon in The Castleton, after which they had their blood typed for any emergency need which might arise.

Drs. Wilbur Flannery, T. W. Shaffer and Lumen Popp and Peter Mancino, laboratory technician from the New Castle hospital, assisted with the typing of the blood.

Arrangements were completed for a joint meeting of the Kiwanis, Rotary, and Lions Club, which will be preceded by a dinner at 6:30 o'clock next Wednesday evening, in The Castleton, with the Kiwanis Club as host club. At this time the combined group will be addressed by C. H. Shaffer, of the F. B. I. at Pittsburgh.

Garden Hints

When vegetable gardens are planted on ground which slopes, the rows should run across the slope rather than up and down.

Vegetable crops that spread, such as cucumbers, winter squashes, melons and pumpkins should be planted where they will not overrun smaller crops.

* * *

Tall-growing plants, such as corn, pole beans and tomatoes, should be placed where they will not shade smaller growing crops.

* * *

Even though the ground was not turned up last fall for growing vegetables this spring, good vegetables can still be grown if the ground is given proper treatment in April.

* * *

Vegetables such as Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach, which can be cropped throughout the season, will not require as much space as tomatoes.

* * *

When planting lettuce and cabbage in the Victory Vegetable Garden, remember that the green kinds contain more vitamins and iron than the white. Matchless is recommended as a particularly good green lettuce.

Let's get started" is a nice war slogan, but won't it get tiresome after a year or two?

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. West, Sr., were pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening when their children gathered at their home to celebrate their 47th wedding anniversary.

A delicious surprise diner prepared by the children was enjoyed by all. The evening was spent with music and social chat. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William West and son, Billie; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. West, Jr., and daughter, Carol, of Harlansburg; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig and son, Charles, of Castlewood.

SCOTT TOWNSHIP NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wimer, of New Wilmington, were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Wimer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mounts, Jr., and son, of New Wilmington, were recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Blair.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Heckathorne and family have moved to the Howard McFarland home near Mt. Herman.

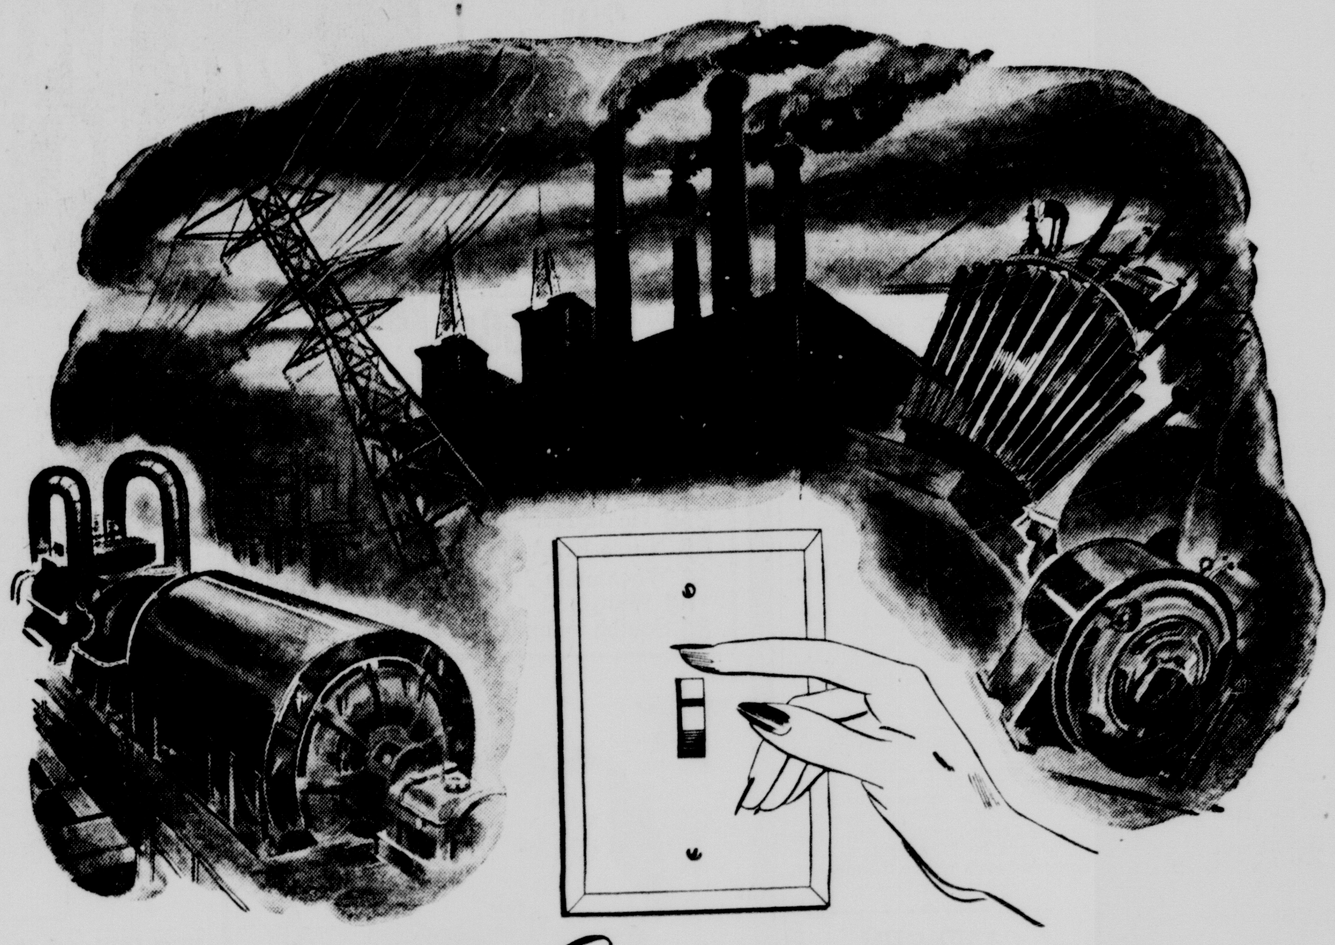

Mrs. Cyrus Alban, of near Jacksville, was a recent caller at the home of Mrs. Ralph McCracken.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Clark were Sunday callers at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Naomi Clark of Greenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Patterson of Painter Hill, were recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dicks and family.

The other myths about the Jap have been exploded; why cling to that one about their super-human courage?

Income payments to individuals are estimated by the Department of Commerce at 90 billion dollars for this year.

BEHIND Your SWITCH

WHEN you flip the switch that turns on a flood of bright, cheerful light — you aren't likely to think of the great generators in the power station, the miles of transmission lines, or the thousands of workers that make this convenience possible.

Nor do we expect you to be aware of these things — for it is our aim to provide you with dependable, low cost electric service so efficiently that you take it for granted.

But today, all of us are being called upon to shoulder added burdens, to assume added responsibilities.

Our nation's tremendous war effort has called for greatly increased power output — to keep factories and mills lighted day and night, to run the machines that make the guns and planes and ships that will win the war.

The electric service companies of the nation are meeting these increased power demands — and you may be sure that we will continue to meet them.

At the same time, the standard of our service to you must not be permitted to suffer. Our primary obligation, even more important in time of war, is to make your life more comfortable, more convenient, safer — by making electricity your obedient servant, there, at the tip of your finger, ready to serve you whenever you need it.

A FOUR-POINT PROGRAM for BETTER LIGHT—BETTER SIGHT

1 USE PROPER SIZE LAMPS
In home, office or factory, the first requirement for easy seeing is the right amount of light. It's important to use the right size bulb.

2 USE CORRECT FIXTURES, PROPERLY LOCATED
Having the right quality of light is as important as having the right amount. Make sure your fixtures are properly designed and correctly placed.

3 CLEAN FIXTURES AND LAMPS REGULARLY
Dust and dirt cut down the efficiency of your lighting equipment. Periodic cleaning pays.

4 LIGHT EVERYWHERE IS ESSENTIAL
When you've been reading intently for a period, to look up from the well-lighted printed page into a roomful of semi-dark strains your eyes. You should not subject your eyes to sudden changes of light and dark. The right kind of room lighting distributes light everywhere.

ARE YOU MOVING?
So that you will not be inconvenienced by delay, please notify us well in advance of electric service connections you desire. In view of war conservation "musts," we are arranging our schedule of calls for service to reduce our automobile use. Thanks for your cooperation!

Wins Entry Into Navy By Drinking Gallons Of Milk

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—The milk-drinking marathon of Kenny Goslin, young inspector at the Curtiss-Wright propellor plant here, has ended in victory.

The light weight of Goslin had prevented him from joining the navy air service, but now he has been admitted. The navy helped him win, however, by lowering its weight requirements in Kenny's case by one pound and a half.

Kenny had increased his weight from 120 pounds to 125½ pounds by drinking huge quantities of milk, but he couldn't for the life of him, make 126 pounds, the navy's first minimum. He was able to make 124½ pounds, however, and now is ready for primary flight training.

During the past four months Kenny was rejected by three navy boards and one Army board because of his weight.

Pals of Goslin for many weeks provided him with milk, kept his weight chart and persuaded him to get eight hours of sleep a night.

MILLBURN

Bill Mursch spent the week-end at his home in Crafton.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Drake and M. B. Orr attended the co-operative group dinner at Mercer on Saturday.

Charles McClish, Miss Hoover and Mr. Williams of Sharon called on Miss Rose McClish during the week-end.

Mrs. John Puskar, of Imperial, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Thompson recently. Paul Thompson expects to receive his call to training soon.

Mrs. Harvey Williams is able to be about the house again after a week's illness with grippe which confined her to bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loos, nee Miss Angie Colicchio of Grove City, who were married on Saturday and are now residing in New Castle, called on Mrs. J. J. Sullivan, Sunday.

Esther, Mildred, Martha and Bobbie Cummings attended the banquet given by the three churches of the community to Pardoe church, the winner in a recent interchurch contest.

Charles Holliday, formerly superintendent of Simpson pumping station, died at his home Monday evening after an illness of several months. Surviving is his wife, two sons, Robert and Donald, and a granddaughter, Judy.

The community was shocked and saddened early in the week by news of the brutal shooting of Mac Supplee, who was formerly a resident here and whose wife Mrs. Ann Wood Supplee was born and raised here. The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Supplee and the children.

The Ladies Friendship club met for the last all day meeting of the season on Thursday. Miss Strain, county home economist, discussed the use of honey as a substitute for sugar in baking and demonstrated by baking a delicious spice cake. The club plans a sight-seeing tour in Pittsburgh in the near future.

The family of Joshua Patterson gathered at his home on Sunday to celebrate his 91st birthday. Mr. Patterson is in good health and enjoyed the day with his children and grandchildren. The children present were Mrs. Clifford Bortz, Mrs. Walter Taylor, Mrs. Joe Abbott, James, John and Robert Patterson. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson enjoyed the unusual blessing of an unbroken family circle, no deaths having occurred in the long years of their married life.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Wheat is ground and refined into white flour.

In this process much of its vitamin B1 is lost.

Two years ago bakers started making Enriched Bread.

To enrich flour, vitamins and minerals are restored.

These are chief factors removed during milling of white flour.

Ninety-five per cent of all white bread today is Enriched.

Consumption of Enriched Bread should be widely increased.

Enriched Bread is white bread fortified with valuable factors.

In it are vitamins, calcium and high grade protein.

A nation must feed its people properly to be strong.

Enriched Bread costs no more to the consumer—so demand it.

Now the Italians brag of sinking our ships in our home waters. If we can take that crowning insult and still talk of "defense," we aren't fit to live.

YWCA Board Makes Plans For Class In Child Care

Plan Three Periods At Camp East Brook This Year; Regional Conference In April

Y.W.C.A. board of directors met Wednesday morning in the "Y" when a training class for Girl Reserves in child care was announced by the Girl Reserve committee, to be led by Mrs. James R. (Betty Glover) Green and Katherine Hannon, health education director at Union high school. This is a war project suggested by the National Y.W.C.A. Girl Reserve department. Further plans for the course will be made Monday, March 30, at 4 p.m. at a meeting of leaders.

The board voted to send a letter of sympathy to Mrs. Helen Stevens of Hubbard, O., to Mr. Johnson and Joe Fisher, New Castle, because of the recent death of Miss Cora Ritchie, former general secretary of the Y.W.C.A.

Mrs. William J. Caldwell announced that the "Y" camp, East Brook, will open Tuesday, June 23, and extend through three 12-day periods to Saturday, August 1. Miss Dorothy Stewart will be the director. The board voted to purchase canned goods for the camp and a five-horsepower motor for the swimming pool pump. The rates for the camp this year will be one dollar registration fee and $16 for a 12-day period. The camperships which are donated by church and civic groups will be $10 with an additional one dollar registration fee.

Announcement was made of the Y.W.C.A. regional conference at Pittsburgh April 17, 18 and 19 for all departments of the association The Pittsburgh "Y" will be hostess at tea on Friday and for dinner Friday evening, April 17, and at tea at the Pennsylvania College for Women Saturday afternoon. There will be two discussion groups on the work of the Y.W.C.A. Saturday and a banquet at the William Penn hotel Saturday evening. Friday and Saturday evenings, the program will consist of talks by leaders of the association. Sunday morning, the conference will discuss the Christian purpose of the Y.W. Delegates planning to attend are Mrs. A. B. Foster, Mrs. John E. Elliott, Mrs. Raymond Williams, Mrs. James Gillespie, Miss Marguerite White, Miss W. J. N. Scroczynska, Miss Rosa Brown, Miss Elizabeth Yingling, Miss Jessie Jenkins and others.

The board authorized the painting of the exterior of the Elm street branch which has not been painted for 15 years.

Membership ingathering, of which Mrs. J. W. Balentine is chairman, has been most successful this year with 1244 members thus far and nearly $1800 in cash and pledges. The cash to date has made possible the payment of all current bills as well as the replacement of several items of equipment and leaves a small balance to start the last half of the fiscal year.

Mrs. J. J. McIlvaine will conclude her study of the sermon on the mount at the final Lenten Bible class next Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

BALTIMORE & OHIO

AROUND CITY HALL

Constructing during 1941 cost $401,260, according to statistics released today by Neal Williams of the local bureau of building. Of new construction 21 were dwellings, which cost $116,550.

Other construction follows:

Stores, seven, $20,800.

Private garages, 70, $17,380.

Service stations, six, $23,200.

Commercial structures, one, $35,000.

Industrial buildings, four, $60,900.

Office buildings, three, $82,000.

The total of the foregoing new construction was $358,375.

Remodeling and repairs cost $42,885.

It is peculiar, nevertheless true, that those odd males who have a yen for dolling themselves in women's garments and then parading around public places usually end up in cells. Years ago a chap from a carnival company made such a journey and was discovered later. The same turned out to be equally true when a masquerader was found strutting around Portersville vicinity. The latest man who pulled off the nonsensical idea was caught and fined $5.00, in police court.

TO ROUSE FLOW OF LIVER BILE

Normally about a quart of these digestion-aiding bile juices should flow freely into your intestines every 24 hours. A scanty flow—a slowing-up may mean sick Headaches, so-called Biliousness, Poor Digestion, that "half sick" sour feeling and most probably constipation.

Avoid Calomel or other drastic drugs. Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—a gentle exciter—tonight. Start right in tomorrow morning and take half a level teaspoonful in three-quarters of a glass of water (hot or cold) half an hour before breakfast, and keep it up for 30 days. Now you'll know what it is to get up feeling fit and ready for a real day's work. Try Kruschen—a famous English formula and see what it means to you when Bile Flows Freely. Satisfaction Guaranteed or money back.

Supply Of Sand Necessary For Air Raid Posts

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Supplies of sand should be brought from the seashore and kept available at air raid warden's posts as a precautionary measure against incendiary bomb raids.

That was the advice given by Special Constable Herber Scott, British expert on bombing protection who was sent to the United States from Britain to aid Americans in organizing air raids.

He also suggested constant praetice for air raid wardens and the posting of fire spotters everywhere during a raid.

Scott has been active as a volunteer in the special auxiliary police in about 100 London air raids. He recommended that sand be brought from the seashore in city trucks. In the home, even pillow cases could be used for sandbags in extinguishing incendiary bombs, he added.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MANY APPLICANTS

Still they come. Each day sees an even larger crowd of applicants for citizenship in the court house to take their preliminary examination. A dozen different countries are represented, different languages are heard in the corridors and all of them are there for the same thing, to become citizens of Uncle Sam.

Some interesting sidelights are seen and some interesting remarks heard. One woman up for citizenship was listing her children. She probably got them all listed. There were only 14, all of them born in this district since 1909.

All day long the examiners ask the same questions, examine the witnesses, fill out the papers, stamp them and call the next.

FEW CANDIDATES

The number of candidates for office seems to run in inverse ratio to the kind of times we enjoy. This year there seems to be a death of candidates and many offices see but one candidate for nomination, but even these are not as plentiful as they usually are.

Party leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties are interested in seeing that candidates file for the committee places. Unless two names are filed on each party in each precinct the voters seem to take it as an invitation to write in names and in some precincts the list of candidates getting one vote each is long and tedious to the election boards.

WORK CONTINUES

The wrecking of the old wood work in the first floor corridor of the court house is about complete. Foundation work for the wood peneling has started and the work of actually putting it on should get under way next week.

The plan is to arch the entire corridor and in the wrecking work some old landmarks have been obliterated. One of the doors to the sheriff's office is being closed up and probably another old door that hasn't been opened since the county was young will be closed in. The broom closet formerly used by Custodian Clifford M. James is being transformed into an alcove where the refreshment stand will go, thus obviating any impediment in the corridor.

Doctors and nurses are people who believe in medical care and sensible treatment for everybody except themselves.

New England To Seek More Gasoline

(International News Service)

BOSTON, March 26.—New England fuel administrators will appeal to Secretary of the Interior Ickes, petroleum administrator, for an immediate increase in oil tank cars and tankers for this area to prevent the closing of war production plants, Governor Leverett Saltonstall said today.

Said the governor:

"A very serious shortage has developed and our most critical period will come in the next few days with the possibility that plants producing war materials may begin closing about April 1. We need temporary relief in the way of additional tank cars and oil-carrying vessels."

Crude Oil Price Being Advanced

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—In a move to stimulate production to meet war demands the office of price administration Wednesday authorized an immediate increase of 25 cents a barrel for all grades of Pennsylvania crude oil.

The O.P.A. also announced that a second advance of 25 cents a barrel will be permitted when production reaches 85,000 barrels per day over a three-month period.

Acting Price Administrator John E. Hamm said that the price increase was authorized after an exhaustive investigation by O.P.A. and the petroleum coordinator's office. Hamm estimated that the industry will have to spend approximately $15,000,000 annually for the next three years in repressuring, reconditioning and drilling of new wells to meet the production goal necessary to supply war and other demands.

Small Business May Receive Aid

Executive Order Provides For Small Loans For War Production

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—President Roosevelt came to the aid of small business today through promulgation of an executive order putting the financing of defense industry on a war basis.

Under the order, the war department, the navy department and the maritime commission may guarantee or make loans to small business fhen they are needed for war production.

"The basic purpose of the order," the White House explained in a formal statement, "is to put working capital financing on a war basis. Up to now peacetime restrictions on banks and credit agencies have made it difficult for them to finance war production although the banks have been anxious to use their resources for prosecution of the war."

Federal guarantees will support the operations of the banks, the Federal Reserve system, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other credit agencies.

These guaranties "will not be made under peacetime credit rules".

"They will be made by production men, wherever additional financing is essential for additional production," the White House said. "Peacetime destrictions on credit can not hold up production of war supplies needed by the armed forces."

The White House explained that the executive order was "aimed at curing a situation which has interfered with the all-out participation of many small business enterprises in war production."

"Full production of the nation's smaller businesses is essential to victory."

Present at the signing of the executive order were Senators James Murray (D) Mont., Arthur Capper (O) Kan., and James Mead (D) N. Y., who have been particularly anxious to bring small business more definitely into the picture.

THE SALVATION ARMY

SOLDIERS' PARENTS GET CALLS

Parents of brilliant soldier sons stationed in the Battle Creek, Mich., and Rockford, Ill., areas are now receiving week-end surprise telephone calls as a result of quiz contests staged in USO clubs operated there by the Salvation Army.

The winner of each weekly contest earns a free call to the home town folks, if they live in the United States.

At Rockford, the first top contestant was Private H. L. Page, company B, 26th Medical Battalion, at Camp Grant, who said, "Hello, mom" to his family in Union City, Ind.

Club directors, Major William Blomgren at Rockford and Major Thomas V. Gates at Battle Creek, report that other U. S. O. clubs are adopting this popular attendance-getter.

MILITARY WEDDING PERFORMED

Whoever first alluded to the Salvation Army as watching over us "from the cradle to the grave" could not intentionally have fled past the great middle ground of wedlock.

From Major C. O. Taylor, salvationist director of the Tacoma, Wash., USO club, has just performed his second military wedding, although his unite is scarcely a few months old.

Camp Flashes from San Francisco reports that the more recent bridegroom was "a technical sergeant and his bride a beautiful blond. Ice cream and cake were served after the ceremony."

You guessed it! The khaki boys have already dubbed Major Taylor "the marrying salvationist".

The spoonbill catfish, found only in the waters of the Mississippi valley, is the sole representative of its family.

News Briefs From City Hall

"It is disgusting to be asked for booze money by a man who won't work. No wonder I swung at him" said a citizen last night. There are some panhandlers here. They watch for police and make a hurried flight when they notice the approach of an officer.

Council today viewed the Mott property, East Brook street, upon which there is a $288 sewer lien. The property-owner wants to pay $240 cash. However, under the law council cannot act unless the property at sheriff's sale wouldn't bring more than the cost of the lien, it was stated.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne today issued an annual spring notice: "No dog, license or unlicensed, has any legal standing, if it runs at large. Because of this status, the dog-catcher is apt to ensnare your dog. People who like their dogs should tie it fast immediately," he said.

This is going to be a Victory garden year. Vegetables grown at home will help lower the HCOL. For this reason city authorities will endeavor to force persons who have chickens and dogs to keep them from destroying the efforts of gardeners.

Clean up and paint up has started at Cascade Park and it is likely that property-owners will begin cleaning yards and having debris hauled away within the next week or two. Persons who haul away rubbish must have a city permit which can be obtained at the health bureau for 25 cents.

Property - owners usually build fires to destroy winter's left-overs. However, they should not forget the law calls upon them to first secure a permit to start a fire. The permit can be obtained free from the officer in charge of any fire department station.

Detectives' Chief Ralph A. Criswell and other officers yesterday afternoon arrested Joseph Fusco, Duquesne Street, on a charge of disorderly conduct in the 1000 block of Croton avenue and in police court this morning Mayor Charles B. Mayne fined Fusco $100.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne in police court today fined W. D. Maloney, said to be from Punxsutawney, $25 on a charge of disorderly conduct. It was reported by Arthur Harris, meter service operator, that Maloney disregarded paying for parking and when questioned he said he was a State officer. When he shoved Harris the latter placed him under arrest. The man who had been drinking, later said he was no state officer.

When council met in the municipal building today the city fathers purchased a street sweeper from the Elgin company for $7,190. The purchase was recommended by Purchasing Agent Joseph Alexander, Streets Commissioner James Gibson and Mechanic Chris Walker.

Bombardment By Electrons Due, Scientists Say

Earth Will Experience Greater Electrical Bombardment Than In 1941

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 26.—Possibly today, or perhaps tomorrow, this old earth of ours is in for one of the heaviest electron bombardments it has experienced in many a decade.

Scientists at the Buhl planetarium believe that the countless trillions of electrons which will pelt the earth will make the bombardment of last September seem like child's play. At that time, radio and telephone communications throughout the world went "berserk".

F. S. McGary, manager of the planetarium, explained that a huge group of sun spots will be in position to bombard us with electrical particles within a day or two.

War Secretary Asks Aid In Enforcement

Asks Governors To Assume Leadership In Stamping Out Vice

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Secretary of War Stimson today appealed to governors of all the states to assume leadership in stamping out vice which he said presented "serious dangers to the success of our war effort."

In letters to the governors, the secretary said:

"Specifically I request you to assume responsibility for stimulating adequate state and local law enforcement not only in cities but in rural areas, using the state police if they exist and have jurisdiction. This means closing segregated districts and ending the farce of examination of prostitutes as well as intelligent police follow up that keeps out the profiteers on vice."

Murray And Green Before Committee

Condemn Proposals To Suspend 40-Hour Week—Green Assails Move Sponsors

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 26.—CIO President Philip Murray and AFL Chieftain William Green appeared before the house naval affairs committee today to condemn proposals to suspend the 40-hour week—Green bluntly charging that "the sponsors and supporters of this bill are waging undeclared war against President Roosevelt and the workers of America."

Pleading for unity and charging "deliberate falsification" of the issues, Murray urged the committee "to rebuke once and for all those people in public and private life who are seeking to disrupt our nation and attack labor while its heart and soul and mind and body are engaged in the war effort."

The bill which the labor leaders attacked not only would suspend the 40-hour week but abolish overtime pay and outlaw the closed shop.

Both labor leaders cited figures to show that "American workers are outproducing the workers of any other nation in the world." Green pledged that neither he nor the AFL "has or will condone any strike by any of its members as long as this war lasts."

Congressional Leaders Open Drive For Economy

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Congressional economy leaders today opened a drive to drastically reduce appropriations for federal non-defense agencies.

Sen. McKellar (D) Tenn., lead a fight in the Senate to slash the $2,000,000,000 independent offices supply bill, as the House "economy bloc" sought further reductions in the $162,000,000 fund for the interior department.

Travel expenses and publicity were the chief targets of McKellar, who has held up the independent offices bill in the Senate appropriations committee. He hopes to swing a much bigger axe than House economists who cut budget estimated by $5,000,000.

May Be Test

This measure, which carries funds for the federal trade commission, the S.E.C. and similar independent establishments, may furnish a test on the sentiment in Congress for really cutting non-defense appropriations.

"I have got some information indicating that we could save a lot of money by cutting down travel expenses and publicity, and there are other things that we can do without during war," said McKellar. "We will consider the bill just as soon as all information is assembled.

"I am hopeful that we can have some of the non-defense agency employes transferred to defense work."

The House appropriations committee has already plucked $28,000,000 from last year's interior department appropriations in the bill under consideration.

An economy group, led by Republicans, hopes to slash $10,000,000 to $20,000,000 more from Secretary of Interior Ickes funds before the bill leaves the house. Thus far they have cut only $176,000 out of it.

Meantime, the Senate Labor Committee continued hearings on the McKellar Bill to abolish the National Youth Administration and the Civilian Conservation Corps, but foes of the agencies held little hope for the proposal.

Held Youth Groups

The labor committee, which has vigorously supported the agencies in the past, appeared ready to follow President Roosevelt's recommendation that the youth agencies be retained and that their efforts be devoted largely to defense and war work.

Rep. Dirksen (R) however, said that real battle to abolish the NYA and CCC will be made when the administration formally requests bills appropriating money to carry them through the next fiscal year.

The house "economy bloc" he indicated, is girding itself for a vigorous fight to deny any funds for activities, and transfer their defense work to other agencies.

On another economy front, Sen. Byrd, (D) Va., chairman of the joint economy committee, awaited a complete list of office or civilian defense employes, together with their salaries and expenses.

The record, Byrd said, will show now how far OCD Director James M. Landis, has gone in eliminating the "frills and furbelows" which aroused a storm of protest in congress.

Students Testify In Teacher's Case

Ten Year Old Tells Of Assault On Teacher By Irate Mother

(International News Service)

LAFAYETTE, Ind., March 26.—Scrubbed to a painful degree of cleanliness, fifth-grade youngsters of the Longlois grammar school took the stand again today to resume testimony in the trial of Mrs. Virginia Leslie, charged with assault and battery upon their teacher.

The piping voices of 10-year-olds dominated the perant-packed courtroom during the first day of testifying in the case. Mrs. Leslie, wife of Arthur Leslie, a railroad worker, is accused of lashing Miss Constance Davis, the instructor, with a Boy Scout belt.

One after another the childish witnesses denied that Miss Davis had struck Mrs. Leslie's son, Danny, 11, with a book in the classroom. It was this alleged assault that brought the mother to the school in a reputedly "highly emotional" state.

"Got Beat Up"

Arthur William Burroughs, 10, a classmate and chum of Danny's, was the state's first and star witness. After satisfying Special Prosecutor Dan P. Flanagan that he knew the meaning of an oath, the boy was asked to tell what happened Feb. 27.

"Miss Davis got beat up that day," he said simply.

Young Burroughs, who previously had instructed Flanagan to "just call me Bill", added:

"Miss Davis only turned Danny's head around with her hand.

"In the middle of class, Danny got up and got his hat and coat and left the room. He came back about 15 or 20 minutes later with his parents.

"Mrs. Leslie came into the room and called 'Miss Davis' real loud. 'Take off your glasses,' she said. 'Do you want to take your medicine here before the children or outside in the hall?'"

Former Nazi Air Officer Is Now A U. S. Private

(International News Service)

CAMP STEWART, Ga.—Three years ago Paul Otto Young was a lieutenant in an air squadron. Today, he is a first class private, and he's happy at the reduction in rank.

The difference, is that three years ago, he was a commissioned officer in the Richtofen Squadron of the German Air Force. Today, he's attached to the station hospital at Camp Stewart.

After two years of flying with the Richtofen Squadron, Young was transferred to the University of Heidelberg where he received a doctor's degree as a research assistant. But he wasn't happy over there.

"I felt there was something fundamentally rotten about Naiism," Young said. But in Germany, even if you think such things about the state you don't generally say them. Young did, and found himself in "political disfavor."

He managed, however, to obtain a passport to do research work aboard, and went to Paris where he came into the United States on the American immigration quota.

After working for a short time in Brevard, N. C., he was drafted into the army in April, 1941.

British-Indian Talks Satisfactory

(International News Service)

NEW DELHI, India, March 26.—Sir Stafford Cripps today indicated satisfaction with results of his talks thus far with Indian officials and stated that while Britain's proposals for solution of the Indian problem could not be altered fundamentally there was ample latitude for adjustment.

"There is a lot that is adjustable but fundamental principles are the main thing and they are not adjustable," Sir Stafford said.

Sent to India on a special mission by Prime Minister Churchill, Cripps, British Lord Privy Seal and Indian expert, is seeking to gain India's full support in the war effort and offer a satisfactory plan to demands that India be given dominion status.

There is no question of negotiating a fundamentally different scheme (than the British war cabinet has proposed) but the present scheme can be adapted in places of parts," Cripps said.

The Transfigured Christ Meets Human Need

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Transfiguration

"And they were all astonished at the majesty of God."—Luke 9:43.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 29 is Matt. 17:1-20, Mark 9:2-29, Luke 9:28-43, the Golden Text being Luke 9:43, "And they were all astonished at the majesty of God.")

Jesus took His three favorite apostles, Peter, John and James, and went up into a mountain to commune with God His Father. The mountian is thought to be Mt. Hermon, which is 10,000 feet high and whose name means "lofty mountain". It is within six days' reach of Caesarea Philippi, where they were in last week's lesson.

The disciples were weary and rested, but if they slept they were awakened and saw the transfiguration of the Master. "His face did shine as the sun, and His raiment was white as light." St. Matthew tells us. With Him, talking with Him, were Moses and Elijah.

When the prophets vanished and they were alone with Jesus, Peter made a foolish remark, he said: "Lord, it is good for us to be here: if Thou wilt, let us make here three tabernacles; one for Thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias." Tabernacles were little booths or huts made of branches. While Peter was speaking a bright cloud shadowed them, and a voice out of the cloud said "This is My beloved Son, in Whom I am well pleased; hear ye Him."

At that the disciples were frightened and fell on their faces, but Jesus touch them and said, "Arise, and be not afraid."

Before Jesus was suffering and death. It must have strengthened Him in His hard way to have this glimpse that His Father was with Him and that glory awaited Him.

Asked to Tell No One

As the four were going down the mountain, Jesus told them to tell no one of what they had seen and heard, fearing, evidently, that it would be disturbing to people who had neither faith nor vision of what was to come. They were to say nothing until the Son of Man had risen again from the dead, when it would be possible for common people to understand.

A multitude came to meet them as they descended the mountain, and among them a father, who fell on his knees before Jesus and pleaded with Him to save his son who was possessed of an evil spiirt which often threw him into fire or water, and did everything to destroy him. The child was his only son, said the man, and he had asked the disciples to cure him but they could not. Disappointed in His followers Jesus exclaimed, "O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? how long shall I suffer you? bring him hither to Me."

As the child came toward the Lord he was taken with another spasm and fell upon the earth, but Jesus rebuked the demon who came out of him, and he was cured and given back to his father healed.

The disciples were amazed and asked the Master, "Why could not we cast him out?"

"Because of your unbelief; for verily I say unto you, if ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain: Remove hence to yonder place, and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you."

"O, faithless and perverse generation," is Jesus' cry. Are we any better today? Do we have faith that the righteousness of Jesus will prevail? We are confused, downcast and sometimes hopeless at the wickedness of the present time. We even lose faith in our power to do anything about it. We should take these words of our Savior to ourselves, every one of us. What right have we to despair when He told us mountains could be removed if we had faith? No real masses of earth, maybe, but the mountains of evil that crush the world.

We must be strong in our faith in Jesus and His goodness; and not only that, but we must, through Him, have faith in ourselves, that we will be given the strength to carry on and to remove the terror and fear that lies over the world, and help to make it a better one, fit for Jesus and His Father, God, to rule over forever and ever.

No New Highway Map This Year

HARRISBURG, March 26.—The department of highways does not contemplate the publication of an official tourist map this year, T. C. Frame, chief engineer, announced today.

An ample supply of maps was printed last year, Frame explained, and it is considered sufficient to meet the anticipated needs for the coming summer.

When the 1941 edition was prepared draftsmen took into consideration a number of changes in route markings that were contemplated after construction projects were finished. Those were made in the map issued last year. During the winter there have been several other changes made but none of them were of a drastic nature.

With federal restrictions on tires and gasoline consumption the number of inquiries received by the department for touring information has been reduced. Furthermore, it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain paper, officials say. For these reasons the department feels that a new issue would be wasteful.

During the coming summer season the department expects to issue its detour bulletin covering construction operation on a two-weeks basis. In previous years this detour bulletin was issued weekly However, the war is making it more difficult for the department to obtain materials for construction purposes.

BANQUET EVENT

A father and son event was held at the Presbyterian church on Friday evening. There were about 100 present.

A program was presented after the banquet.

Floyd Gardner was the master-of-ceremonies. Rev. Lawrence Faivre was toastmaster. Group singing was led by Adelbert Aiken, with Mrs. Aiken at the piano Eddie Gardner and Carl Cunningham presented a comic skit. Vocal duet was sung by James Stevenson and Kenneth Dight. Instrumental duet was played by Donald Shaw and Nathan Offut. Special speaker of the evening was Frank Coen, game protector, of New Castle.

The banquet was served by members of the Guild of the Presbyterian church.

MISSIONARY MEETING

The Women's Missionary society of the U. P. church met at the home of Mrs. Genevieve Maxwell on Thursday. It was an all-day meeting, with a tureen dinner.

The ladies spent their time sewing.

The program in the afternoon included: leader, Mrs. Margaret Elliott; special music, Mrs. Ed. Brown and Mary Sankey. Speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Sally Dickey, field secretary of the Women's General Missionary board of the U. P. church.

Election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mrs. Vida McNulty; vice president, Mrs. Genevieve Maxwell; secretary, Mrs. Clara Seth; treasurer, Mrs. Bertha Shoaff.

PLAINGROVE NOTES

Mr. and Mrs Mason are moving into their home which they recently purchased from Mr and Mrs. O S. Minor.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Rea and Joy Lee, of Sharon, have been spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hogue.

Frank Hogue is in the St. Francis hospital in Pittsburgh. His condition seems very favorable.

THEODORE DIETRICH DIES IN INDIANA

Word has been received of the death of Theodore Dietrich of La Porte, Ind., after an extended illness.

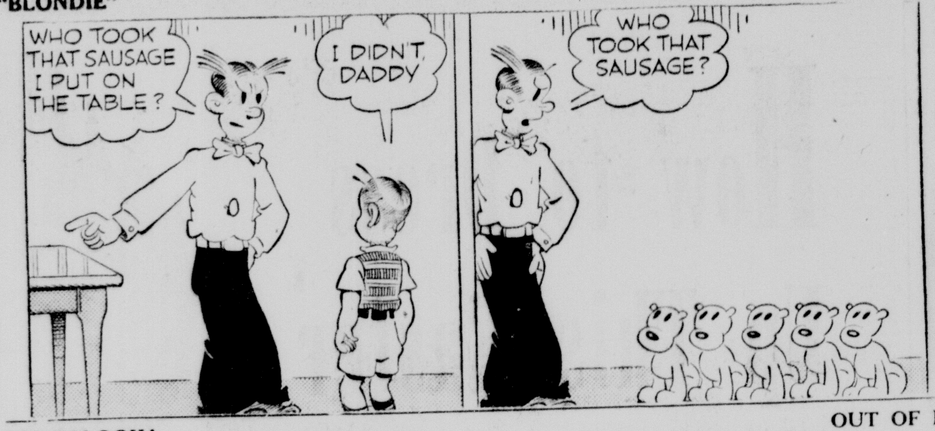

Mr. Dietrich is survived by his wife and three sons, Robert, in the United States Navy, Theodore and Dean, at home. One son, Earl, preceded him in death several years ago. Mrs. Dietrich will be remembered as Miss Hazel Kitson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Kitson, former residents of this city. She was a teacher in Croton school.

Report Highway Is Badly Heaved

GROVE CITY, March 26—Considerable inconvenience to local people has been caused by the almost impassable condition of the highway from Leesburg to Grove City. Many persons driving to work here from the Leesburg district have been forced to go around through Mercer.

Heavy damage to the black-top road was caused, it is said by coal-trucking operations from a strip-mine three miles south of Grove City to the Perry Highway at Leesburg. The route has recently been placed on the restricted list for heavy vehicles by the State Highway Department.

Lee Stars Again; Leads New Castle Scoring Division

Versatile Colored Athlete Pops In 141 Points; Joe Ciazza Second Best

HIGH FLIPPERS WIN 14 BATTLES

Robert "Bob" Lee, sensational Wood street athlete, has added radiance to an already star-studded scholastic path.

The colored young man, who ranked among the most talented football warriors in Pennsylvania high school stations last fall, displayed an uncanny scoring eye to emerge as top shotmaker on New Castle high's quint this season.

Tallies 141 Points

Lee whizzed the air jammed spheroid through the lace 57 times from the field and counted 27 out of 41 foul attempts for 141 points. Lee, who will be eligible for football but not for basketball, will leave a canyon-like opening on the varsity edition next season.

Joey Ciazza, who may develop into one of the classiest cage hands in the history of the school, finished second with 117 points. John Zubkowsky, the husky center with unusual ability, finished next with 96 points while Charles "Red" Ross, who was forced to turn in his suit at the end of the first semester due to W.P.I.A.L. eligibility rules, holds down the fourth slot with 84 points.

In racking up 14 out of 19 victories, the loss to Braddock included, the "Red Hurricane" flipping unit forced local swamis to duck for the nearest dark corner. Despite the loss of Ross, Cooper, Young and Parou, the Bridenbaughmen ascended to the Section III penthouse.

The individual scoring and season records:

Doubles Team To Try For Title

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., March 26.—A pair of former champions and record holders, Frank Benkovic of Cincinnati and Larry Shotwell of Covington, Ky., will try for a slice of the $250,000 prize fund in the 42nd annual American Bowling Congress tournament in Columbus tonight.

Benkovic and the late Gil Zunker won the doubles championship in 1933 at Columbus with 1415, the highest total ever recorded in an ABC tournament. Shotwell banged out 774 in Cleveland in 1930 in the singles, also the top for a congress classic.

Last night's action produced three changes in the five-man division. The Bowling Association of Bakersfield, Cal., hit 3001 to take third place, with Acme Billiards of Los Angeles posting 2936 for six and the Altmans Five of Atlantic City, N. J., cracking out 2900 for ninth, only to drop to 11th after the west coast teams had bowled.

MILTONS HURL CHALLENGE

The Milton A. C. basketball team through "Peck" Humphrey, one of the Milton stars, today hurled a directed challenge at the N. Y. A. team for a single game to determine the Class B city-county championship or for a series of games to be played at the Arena or any place that the N. Y. A. team desires to play. The Milton team is coached by William "Bill" Patton.

Walkout Concludes N. Y. A. Cage Game

A walkout terminated Wednesday night's cage battle between the N.Y.A. and the Second U.P., according to John Rubeis, coach of the N.Y.A. team.

Rubeis reported that his team was leading 6-1 at the close of the first quarter when the opposition refused to continue due to what was termed a "raw decision" on the part of Referee Marshall Taylor, ex-Kittaning high school star and a licensed official.

Tonight, the N.Y.A. tackles the strong Polish Falcon team on the Falcon floor.

Fighters Must Keep Chins Down

Solid Whack Likely To Upset Either Russ Or Frankie

CAREY, GARDNER ALSO TO FIGHT

It may not be amiss to sound a note of warning to both Russell Baxter and Frankie Genaro, rival middleweight fighters who clash in The Arena Monday night. And while the order of the day throughout the country is "Chins up!" the tip to both Russ and Frankie is "Chins down!"

In some past bouts Russell carried his chin so high it was a beacon light for a good shot. During his most recent fights he held it breast-close thus precluding any chance of his foe landing a solid whack upon a vulnerable spot. And, if Frankie carries his chin too high, there may be another Tunney-Dempsey fight in Philadelphia, the ex-marine saw Jack's chin a little higher than Dempsey usually carried it and kersmack! Tunney landed a right. According to reports, this was the blow that paved the way for Tunney's victory and with the said win went Jack's million-dollar championship.

Two Different Styles

Russell is a better boxer than Genaro. He is also taller. This means that Baxter will have an advantage in reach and can keep stabbing a left toward the face and patiently await an opportunity for a right cross or straight right to the head.

Being of short stature Genaro is likely to play a drum-like tattoo on Russell's stomach. Just how bemuscled Baxter's "wind" is remains an enigma because few fighters have attacked him around the mid riff. No doubt Genaro will wage a battle to the stomach and when Baxter drops his guard whip rights and lefts to the head.

The Monday night battle isn't going to be an ordinary amateur bout. There's plenty of heat being turned on both boys. Their respective handlers want to see the other fighter knocked out and the boys are training hard. In fact, they're training as vigorously as the heavyweights, Billy Reale and Joe Biro, former foe of Harry Bobo.

Service Men On Card

Sergt. James Final, local marine recruiting station, vs. Eddie Sullivan, Youngstown, heavyweights.

Seaman "Hocky" Horcher vs. Seaman "Pee Wee" Carlin of the local navy recruiting station, 128 pounds.

Seaman Eddie Spigler, local navy recruiting station, vs. Bill Bradley, New Castle.

Pete Carey, New Castle, vs. Tony Siciliano, Youngstown, 130.

Johnny Gardner, New Castle, vs. Steve Covaleskie, Youngstown Y. M. C. A., 145.

Baby Genaro, a brother of Frankie who is in the running for the bantamweight championship of the Youngstown district, will oppose the only colored fighter on Monday's card, classy Bob Timpson.

BOUDREAU SCORES HIT

CLEARWATER, Fla.—The zest with which the Indians both rookies and veterans, carry out the orders of manager Lou Boudreau plainly indicates that despite his meager 24 years, the players already look to him as a leader.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Short stuff pounded out on the run:-

Turnstile stuff:- New Castle high lured 6,855 customers to 10 games played on George Washington junior high school court this season. The figures show, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that local freight payers relish inter-county rivalry. The Ellwood City-New Castle skirmish was the top box office attraction with a gallery of 1,175 fans.

New Castle high's cage stars of tomorrow—the reserves—finished in the even stephen bracket with nine victories against a similar number of setbacks. Members of the squad included: Robert Jackson, Ed. Jackson, Dick Cowden, Clifford Humphreys, Kevin Guinaugh, Tony Rozzano, Pete Tedescko, Michael Desmone, Tony Thomas, John Kurdupski, Dave Genkinger, Eddie Jacobs, Robert Beynon, Robert Preston, Carl Congini, George Crunkleton, Billy Orend, Harold Currie, Jack Wimer and Mike Fair.

The AP All-State Teachers Conference basketball team is minus the name of Tom Carey, Slippery Rock ace. The local athlete's handle doesn't show up in the second team selection, which makes the pick cockeyed from this pen pusher's viewpoint. Fellows like Grover Washabaugh and "Chick" Davies, Westminster and Duquesne pilots, are two informed gents whom we heard spare no adjectives in praising Tom.

Westminster college's racqueteers have started drills. The tennis sessions are confined to indoors. However Coach Walter Biberich, linguist magician and a general all around Titan sports supporter, is singing the customary blues. The Titan team removes the lid on Saturday, April 18, battling Slippery Rock Teachers.

From now on, when I cut a butcher-like divot, I promise to replace same with a smile on my face. Today, I learned that the total cost of maintenance for the nation's golf courses in 1941 was a cool $40,000,000. The cost per hole for the average 18-hole layout was close to $1,000. These figures come fresh from the National Conference of Greenskeeping Superintendents.

If Sharon kayoes Lower Merion for the state high cage crown Saturday, it won't be the first time. The Mercer countians whipped the Merion outfit 18-15 in 1930 in Philly. New Castle high, incidentally, flattened Sharon 28-20 this season. . . Lloyd Waner is starting his 16th major league season. . . .The Dodgers are broadcasting their spring training games. We'd like to know why, too.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Sportsmen are the cream of the earth. Seldom does a true disciple of Isaac Walton or a man who travels into woodland or field in quest of game appear before a court on a serious charge. In fact, President Judge Walter Braham in addressing the Old Time Sportsmen in the Elks club Tuesday, said that in his experience on the bench he has had only one man appear before him who could occupy that category on a serious charge. He said we all should love Mother Earth and nature. The president judge, who, while not an expert with a rifle, is no "push-over" with a fishing rod. In fact fishing is the jurist's recreation.

During his address Judge Braham said he felt no doubt as to what will happen when Americans meet Japanese. He pointed out that young America, accustomed to outdoor life and motorboating, understands guns and engines. "I am sure they will show up the Japs" said the jurist, who was a sergeant in World War I.

The president judge will be a candidate for supreme court on the Republican ticket. However, he refrained from politics in his address. He was at the banquet as a guest fisherman. He has not yet bounced up to the 50-year line. However, the fact remains he is a lover of outdoor life and this won him an invitation. The president judge likes Mother Nature so much he persuaded the City of New Castle several years ago to obtain thousands of trees which were planted. At that time he remarked to city council: "This is the wealth of tomorrow."

Wealth and life's station doesn't mean a thing to the Old Time Sportsmen. Men of dollars rubbed elbows with men of overalls and tillers of the soil. These men have communed along the streams and divided lunches while hunting rabbits and birds. All have much in common. Prior to parting again for the space of a year, they paid reverence to departed brethren.

Game Protector Frank Coen today announced that 1,200 ringnecks have been stocked in this section—known as district 12 of the game commission. He said the birds had been placed in parts of Mercer and of Butler counties adjacent to Lawrence county and also in several places in Lawrence county. He asserted cock birds were distributed in sections frequented by hens for mating purposes. He also asserted that among the cock birds were some hens. One shipment was from Wiconsin and 600 of the 1,200 were raised at the Jordan game farm. They were carried over during winter for stocking this spring, he stated.

It does not pay dividends to shoot a ringneck pheasant, according to reports. One Lawrence countian who shot a ringneck in Bessemer vicinity was fined $59.50. Twenty-five dollars of the $59.50 was for shooting the cock bird, the other $25.00 for shooting too close to a house and the remainder was costs.

Joe Louis will try to stop Abe Simon just as quickly as he can in New York City Friday night. Joe is donating his money to Army relief and naturally will not want to spend any more time in the ring than possible. Simon went 13 rounds in the first bout. Since then Lem Franklin defeated Simon in less than half a dozen rounds. No doubt Louis punches in Detroit softened Abe. We believe the fight will go five or less rounds.

BLOOD DONORS

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Marquette university's best athletic blood is being donated to the American Red Cross. Members of Alpha Gamma Phi fraternity, most of whom are Hilltop varsity athletes, have volunteered 100 percent in the Red Cross' current blood donor campaign. Co-Capt. Jimmy Richardson and Doug Renzel of the 1941 football team started the parade to letting headquarters.

MacMitchell Near To World Record

Five-Tenths Of Second Off On Mile World Record Run In New York Meet

By PAUL GARDNER
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, March 26.—There was not a single raspberry left in the Bronx today—they were still cheering a meet which failed by a mere 2.4 seconds of creating eight new world records out of eight singled out for destruction.

Had Leslie MacMitchell gone 5.10 of a second faster in the mile, and had Gregory Rice travelled 1.9 seconds more rapidly in the two-miles every objective would have been taken and completely wrecked.

Suffering Colds

At that, MacMitchell and Rice were both suffering from head colds—Leslie had a severe nose bleed when he went up stairs to the dressing room after his victory over Gil Dodds before the 6,000 spectators at the Coliseum.

You can realize how far the human mechanism has improved in its speed when a man like MacMitchell runs a 4.07.8 mile, and Rice goes 8:52.9 for the two miles on the same evening, and people are providing special reasons. Imagine two such performances on the same night ten years ago.

Second-Merchants To Play Friday

The Second U. P. church basketball team has scheduled the fast Beaver Falls Merchants for a game at the "Y" floor at 7:30 o'clock on Friday evening.

Manager Dick Davis wants the players of the Second team to report at the "Y" at 7 o'clock for the game. This will probably be the final game of the 1942 season for the County Line Streeters.

St. Vitus Team League Champion

Defeat Epworth 41 To 36 In Thrilling Battle At "Y" Wednesday Night

Twice In Row For Saints As Title Holders, Bullano-Ciazza-Gennock Star

St. Vitus church basketball team for the second time in two years holds the New Castle Church Basketball league championship, having defeated a hard fighting Epworth team at the "Y" last night before a capacity crowd, 41 to 36, in a thrilling battle. The Saints were the Class AA champs in 1941.

The game was nip and tuck all the way, the first half ending with the St. Vitus team only out in front 14 to 13. In the second half the Saints' offense was just a wee bit better than that of the East Siders and they tallied 27 points to 23 for the losers.

Gennock-Bullano Lead

Pacing the Saints to their great victory was Rags Gennock, with 15 of the points and played a beautidefensive as well as offensive game. Best in the lineup of the losing team were Zeke Waimio and Eddie Nahas, with Reed also playing a fine game.

Coach Kane Morgan and his Saints are being congratulated on all sides today and rightfully so, as they are great champions and deserving of all the praise that can be heaped on them. Any team that can win 45 games and lose but 4 in two years must have "something on the ball." This year the Saints won 29 and lost 7.

Lost Five Players

The Saints bustled through to their splendid championship after losing four star performers in Nickie Gennock, Fred Maciariello, Petey Zingaro and Joe Cooper, all fine young men. The play of Sammy Bullano and Sammy Ciazza has been outstanding all season, this pair being largely responsible for the Saints winning the coveted title.

This is the third year for the Saints in the church league, being runnersup to Epworth three years ago, but having compiled the amazing record of 56 wins and 7 losses in three years of league competition. Sammy Bullano and Vic Ross are the only two players who have been on the St. Vitus team three years in a row.

FAUGHT TIES MARK

NOTRE DAME, Ind.—Bobby Faught, 6-foot, 5-inch sophomore center, made 25 points in Notre Dame's recent 66 to 42 victory over Marquette, to tie the previous modern Notre Dame record set by Johnny Moir, an American forward, in 1936. Moir, like Faught, played only approximately 30 minutes of the game in which the mark was set.

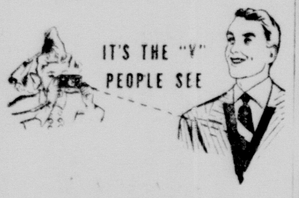

THAT'S BOWLING

BERGEN, N. J.—The Fabers, local team, bowled a 3,577 series with Cecil Hart top man with 268-257-278—803. Eddie Gass, anchor man wound up with a 300 game.

New York Yankees Likely To Repeat

Manager McCarthy Has Not Lost Much Material To Uncle Sam's Army

Has 15 Good Pitchers In Camp, Excellent Catching, May Lose Henrich

By SID MERCER
(International News Service Sports Writer)

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26.—Like all other baseball clubs, the world champion New York Yankees are plagued by uncertainties as they straighten out in this war year for the start of an American League pennant race in which they are hot favorites, but they are much better off than most of the contenders for their title, a title they expect to win for the sixth time in seven years.

The Yankees may lose outfielder Tommy Henrich, among others, and that would be a severe blow. He may be in the army by June. Still, the Yankees still have the incomparable Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller as outfield mainstays, and the veteran George Selkirk among several contending for a job on the picket line.

Expect Good Pitching

Moreover, the Yankees expect to get the pitching and the infielding—two vital factors in their successes, as usual.

The infield should be as strong defensively as last year. Buddy Hassett at first base is not quite as slick a fielder as the departed Johnny Sturm, but he is a better hitter. Rizzuto and Gordon still are the keystone kings. Red Rolfe, Gerry Priddy and Frankie Crosetti assure competent third-basing, or this lineup conceivably could be rearranged in the event Hassett is needed in the outfield.

Unless Bill Dickey stales off into a bad season such as he had two years ago, the Yankees will be much stronger behind the bat. Ken Sears is definitely a hitter, much better than Ken Sylvestri, whom he succeeds as third stringer.

Sears lacks big league polish as a catcher but is acquiring it. He hits a long ball. Buddy Rosar is streamlined this year, faster and more alert. He may displace Dickey next season as the Yankee workhorse behind the bat. Sears, like Dickey, is a left handed batter. He needs steady work as he has to fight off weight. This husky, offspring of the veteran National League umpire will double as a pinchhitter.

No major league club is so well equipped with hitting catchers as the Yankees.

Joe McCarthy is richer in first class pitching material than any of his competitors. He spread the work last season among eleven men and will do it against this year. McCarthy has looked at fifteen flingers this spring. He must trim only four from that list. His newcomers are all veterans of double-A clubs.

Experienced Men

Lefty Gomez and Charley Ruffing cannot be expected to win 30 games between them again but McCarthy has the pitchers to take up the slack. Of the new men probably Hank Borowy and John Lindell, both up from Newark, will stick. Marius Russo, Ernie Bonham, Spurgeon Chandler Marvin Breuer and Atley Donald are seasoned pitchers who rate starting chances. Ruffing and Gomez will be tossed into spots not more often than once a week. Johnny Murphy and Norman Branch are a pair of excellent relief pitchers.

The Yankees expect much from Lindell, their 6 foot, 4 inch yearling. Lindell has enlarged his repertoire of deliveries. He won 22 for Newark last season. And he adds another right handed pinch-hitter to McCarthy's reserves. Big John has a keen batting eye and hits a long ball.

Seldom do the Yankees pick up unseasoned players for their varsity squad. They like 'em experienced and therefore most of the men are in their mid-twenties or older and married with dependents.

So far they have contributed only four men to the armed services—pitchers Charley Stanceu and Steve Peek, who never attained starting stature last season; Sturm and Silvestri. Should the 3A status of Phil Rizzuto be changed the club still has a capable shortstop in Crosetti.

KENTUCKY RACING

NEW YORK — The land of the blue grass comes back into the racing picture next month with the opening of the Keeneland Park meeting at Lexington, Ky. The session will run from April 9 to the 23rd and will offer at least the same program as last year when $94,700 was distributed.

West Virginia Is Cage Champ

Mountaineers Spill Western Kentucky, 47-45; Cop Invitational Gonfalon

CREIGHTON SPILLS TOLEDO FIVE, 48-46

By JACK MAHON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 26.—And the last shall be first! With the cheers of the largest crowd of the year, 18,251 fans, still ringing in their ears, tired but very, very happy, the West Virginia mountaineers quintet, took the championship of the fifth annual National Invitation Basketball tournament home with them today to Morgantown from which they came—magnificent unknowns—just ten days ago.

The mountaineers, ranked dead last and invited to the tourney as sort of an after-thought, won the title just as they did the hearts of the blase New York fans—the hard way. They took it, 47 to 45, from the equally over-looked gamesters of western Kentucky state after trailing all through the first half and early in the last.

Foul Tells Tale

And they won it on a foul shot, with only 20 seconds to play, when Bucky Sydnor, hero of the Kentuckians drive committed a misdemeanor which sent Rog Hicks to the pay-off line to climax his team's magnificent fight to the title.

West Virginia, seeded last in the field of eight knocked off Long Island, the favorites in the first round and Toledo, seeded fourth in the second. The kentuckians, seeded seventh took over City College and Creighton to qualify for the final.

In the opening half, Western Kentucky converted no less than forty-five per cent of their field goal attempts to build up a 32 to 24 early lead. But once the last half got under way, the Kentuckians seemed to be jinxed. Shots rolled off by inches while Kesling, Baric, Hicks and Hamilton scored eight straight points to push West Virginia back on top, 33 to 32.

The teams battled on tiring legs and fairly even terms for the next eight minutes, never more than three points separating them and with seven minutes left were tied, 40-40.

Kesling broke loose for two under the basket goals in a row for the mountaineers while McKinney tapped in a goal following a jump ball. Biedins sank a foul and a side shot and Western Kentucky was out there again, 45 to 44, but Downey fouled Kesling.

Dick made it good and it was all tied up with one minute to play. With 45 seconds left Kesling was again fouled—but this time he missed!

The ball flew around like a baseball, rather than a basketball for the next fifteen frantic seconds, then Sydnor, who had done such a magnificent job, fouled Hicks.

The skinny guy took his place on the line and with the garden breathing as one person, flipped it through the cords for the point that broke the hearts of all Kentucky. Simultaneous with the final buzzer, Hamilton, magnificent little play-maker of the victors was fouled and made it good to make the final score, 47 to 45.

Creighton Ahead

Creighton University won third place by spilling Toledo University's Rockets, 48-46.

Creighton built up a 28-16 lead in the opening half and managed to snap a late Toledo onslaught. Bob Gerber, the Ohioans' scoring machine, flipped through 14 points to break the tourney individual scoring record. Gerber racked up 65 points during the event.

Falcons-N. Y. A. Battle Tonight

The Polish Falcons will end their 1941-42 basketball season this evening on the Falcon court by playing the N.Y.A. team of this city at 8:30 o'clock. In the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock the Milton A.C. play the Falcon Reserves.

If the Falcons win tonight they will claim the city-county championship, as no other challengers have appeared outside the N.Y.A. team. The Rubeis coached team is led by Johnny Antonio who has averaged better than 15 points per game. On the other hand the "Falcs" have the sharpshooting Eugene Kendra, Eddie Cowden, Tom Carey and Paul Morrison in their lineup.

STAR IN ARMY

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Don Dunker, who won five of Indiana's seven Big Ten baseball games and the most valuable player award last year, will be lost to the army before the Hoosiers open their season.

MILO CANDINI, pitcher, New York Yanks. Purchased from Kansas City where he won nine games against seven losses. Very effective, allowing only 116 hits in 141 innings. Began by playing sandlot baseball and then went to the Akron, O., club in 1936. Righthander, standing an even six feet. Lives at Manteca, Cal.

FORT DIX, N. J., March 26.—Joe Louis won't lose his heavyweight championship to Abe Simon on Friday night or to any other man in the next few centuries. He gets faster, hits harder, and becomes smarter and smarter as the years roll along. In fact if you have been in the ring against him for 600 rounds, getting smacked around by him day in and day out, you really know how good he is.

The speaker is George Nicholson, a great big black man who has made a career of Joe Louis.

George Nicholson was a fighter once himself. Now he is committed perpetually to the role of sparring partner to the heavyweight champion and that is all right with him, too. He could fight any time he wants to, but prefers to serve strictly as the grindstone upon which Louis sharpens up his weapons for his title defenses.

Good Spar-Mate

Nicholson has been with Louis as a spar-mate in every fight except two since 1937 when he first joined the champion's camp at Kenosha, Wis., for Louis' successful challenge against Jim Braddock.

During that time Nicholson has boxed an estimated 600 rounds and has been floored only once—and he was floored when Louis crossed him.

Some of Louis' advisers told the champion that one of these days this Nicholson is going to walk out there swinging and knock your brains out, whereupon Louis entered the ring shortly thereafter, and, instead of extending his gloves at the start of a sparring session feinted, stepped in and landed a right hand that dumped Nicholson on the canvas.

Nicholson's feelings were hurt. He arose and gave Louis the toughest and wildest three minutes he has ever experienced in training.

Nicholson thinks Louis will knock Simon out next Friday night quite easily and quite quickly for the army emergency relief fund.

Louis Good Boxer

"Joe is a far better boxer now than he has ever been before," Nicholson said. "He is harder to hit with a right hand, too. He is smarter than ever and I have to laugh when you fellows say he has gone back. He is better now than when he won the title. He boxes a whole lot better and his added weight has added to his punch."

Nicholson gets $25 a day from Louis in training, plus a bonus after particularly lucrative matches, and has foregone a boxing career since becoming Louis' sparring-partner-in-chief.

"Don't make any mistake about Louis now," Nicholson said. "He is a great boxer besides being a deadly puncher and I don't see how anybody can beat him. I'm talking strictly from experience," Nicholson, a highly intelligent fellow, added.

"Joe doesn't get hit so easy with right hands any more and he doesn't leave his chin open for right hand counters as he used to and I don't see how anybody is going to whip for years to come," Nicholson concluded.

No Stumble-Bums

Aside from whatever Nicholson may have to say on the proposition, it is a notable fact that Louis always has had the very best sparring partners available. He has never stiffed off his workouts with stumblebums circulated to make him look good. Nicholson has been the best, but the others are not far behind—Eddie Blunt George Fitch and Joe Aurons.

As a matter of fact Blunt has whipped both Buddy Baer, Louis' last challenger, and Simon, the one coming up, and probably could take them both again any time they cared to crawl in the ring with him.

This gives you a rough idea—Louis' sparring partners are big, burly gents who already have whipped the guys he is about to face.

SUDDEN REVISION

NEW YORK—A sudden revision of Kentucky Derby winter stock was made following the running of the Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park, Fla., recently, wherein Ben F. Whitaker's Requested made a show of 15 rivals in capturing the $25,000 added money stakes.

FEAT ELUSIVE

No American League pitcher was able to win every series during the 1941 season. Joe Dobson, whom Cleveland traded to Boston a year ago, came the closest, winning his series from five clubs and tying with Detroit and St. Louis.

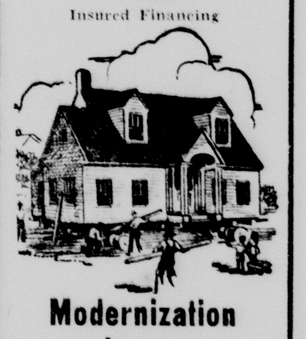

SCHEDULE HEAVY

PHILADELPHIA — Temple university's baseball team will play its usual 20 games this spring and freshmen still will be unable to enlist for varsity competition, it was announced by Earl R. Yeomans, director of athletics.

FOR GOOD MEASURE

EAST LANSING—Michigan State College Spartans recently engaged the University of Michigan in basketball and threw in a boxing match with the University of Florida for good measure.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

Tonight the citizens of the 4th Ward will hold a very important meeting in the Ben Franklin Junior High School . . . a meeting that will be of interest to every one who wishes to know the proper way to protect their home and family in case of an air raid. The 4th Ward is further developed in this Defense Organization than any other section in town. Meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock . . . so why not make an effort to attend.

Here are four part Collie and English Shepperd puppies, two male, two females, about 8 weeks old. Should make excellent farm dogs and be gentle around children. Why not consider one of these dogs for an Easter present . . . Stop at Mrs. Mary E. Floyd, Pulaski Road . . . (back road to Pulaski, dirt) . . . White house next to Big Brick on Greer Farm.

In the past, some people have had the idea that snubbing a man in uniform was good form. They seem to think that any man in the Army Colors was one who should be put aside. He was not the man that daughters should date . . . he was someone that no one wanted. Why did some of our good people do this, because they judged the entire United States Army by a handful of men . . . Today these same people are changing their tune . . . their sons and sweethearts are in the Uniforms they once thought so little of. It's time for we people here in the United States to forget our little differences . . . We have a very important job to do . . . the so-called high and mighty of any community better step down off that stool . . . from here on in we must all play the game square. When you have an opportunity to entertain the army, navy or marines . . . don't pass it up. These boys deserve the best.

We understand that some sort of an arrangement is being worked out by the Legion for a parade when we send boys to camp . . . Fine, we hope that things will be ready very soon.

* * *

Say friend, have you been reading the ads on this page . . . why, man they are, sure fire. Why one fellow sold enough used articles from the attic of his home to buy a new suit and a War Bond . . why don't you look around, maybe this page could help you.

Further Profit-Taking Nips Market, Some Issues Hit New Lows For Year

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 26.—Further profit-taking nipped fractions off stock market values today, some issues like American Telephone and Norfolk & Western declining sharply to new lows for the year.

There was little in the news to effect the course of prices. The dominating factor in the market was the uncertainty over labor, tax and profits legislation.

American Telephone lost around a point to 116, new 1942 bottom. Norfolk & Western, which yesterday fell around 6 points, dropped almost 4 more today to 144½; other weak spots were Eastman Kodak and Homestake Mining, down around a point each.

In chemicals Union Carbide, up ⅛ at the opening, dipped about ½ point. Motors declined by about ¼ point. Bethlehem and U. S. Steel lost around ¼ each. Boeing was steady in an otherwise easy aviation section. Outside of the break in Norfolk rails generally held losses to less than half point.

Coppers were relatively steady. Canning, utility, and mail order shares followed in the general trend. American Car & Foundry lost about ¾ in a dull rail equipment list.

Rounding Up Enemy Aliens

More Than 10,000 Establishments Raided By F. B. I. Since January

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON March 26.—FBI agents confiscated a complete and detailed plan of the subway system of New York from a suspected spy, it was learned today as they pressed a relentless roundup of enemy aliens thought to be dangerous to the security of the United States.

The G-men have raided more than 10,000 business establishments and dwellings of enemy aliens since January, a survey revealed, and 2,921 Japanese, German and Italian nationals have been arrested.

Those apprehended, including the alien found in possession of the subway map, were ordered held for hearings before alien enemy hearing boards established by Attorney General Francis Biddle. They numbered 2392 Japanese, 321 Germans and 208 Italians.

The map pictured power lines, power stations, circuits and other vital details regarded as military secrets and heretofore known only to the most trusted subway employes.

Details of the raid which uncovered the subway plan could not be learned. However, the survey revealed that the aliens seized had collected every conceivable type of document which might be used in sabotage work, including many maps of U. S. coastal waters and the Panama canal.

FBI agents questioned thousands of aliens during the raids, but arrested only those believed dangerous to this nation. The raids also netted more than 2,100 guns, including revolvers, shotguns and rifles, and more than 170,000 rounds of ammunition. This indicated that most of the aliens seized had hoarded guns and ammunition although they had been ordered to surrender them to police. In addition, more than 1,000 swords were confiscated and these did not include knives that might be used as weapons.

Approximately 1,364 sticks of dynamite and 1,756 other pieces of powerful explosives were found, most of it in coastal cities containing vital defense plants. Some of the seizures had been reported previously but the survey disclosed that the number of confiscations in recent days has increased, showing that many aliens were deliberately hiding the dynamite from U. S. authorities.

Many army handbooks also were found, one revealing how American troops maintain guards in the interior of arsenals and war factories. One enemy alien, it was disclosed, had a portfolio containing war department instructions issued to officers and enlisted men. Another alien also had compiled a diary containing detailed weather information for the past several years of the Corpus Christi, Tex., area, which is now the scene of vital defense work and training of U. S. naval flyers.

Photographs of harbors, bridges, oil storage tanks, dams, dirigibles, battleships, coast fortifications and naval drydocks also were taken by FBI men.

According to the survey, enemy aliens were particularly active around Ft. Benning, Ga. A fire control map of the fort and numerous photographs of buildings and installations there were found in the possession of aliens. Many of them were of technical nature, of little interest to any civilian, and the aliens on which they were found were ordered held pending investigation.

Police arrested a boy with a rifle a short distance from the Reola home. He said he had been shooting at tin cans and did not realize the bullet had gone through the window.
